Decision Reserved on Dismissal of 2 Charges

Murphy's Trial to Continue

Ex-Chief Says Burglary Probe Detectives' Job

Heated exchanges between the defense and prosecution attorneys marked the third session of the departmental trial of suspended Deputy Police Chief Robert F. Murphy on Wednesday evening and termination of the hearing appeared at least another day off with these developments:

1) Former Chief Raymond Van Buren testified that Murphy was not directly involved with an investigation of a reported theft of dresses from the Prim-Rose Sportswear, 83 Smith Avenue.

2) The Board of Police Commissioners reserved decision on motions for dismissal of two charges against Murphy.

Says Murphy's Advice Good

3) The police board heard an officer indicted during the grand jury probe of the department—and later reinstated to duty—agree with Murphy's counsel, Attorney N. LeVan Haver, that the deputy chief's suggestion to sign a waiver of immunity, after he had previously refused, was "good advice."

4) Officer Louis Sapp Jr. may testify at another session, tentatively scheduled at 7 p. m. today, and former Officer Joseph Keller has been served with an order directing him to appear before the board, possibly tonight.

Newsmen Barred 15 Minutes

Newsmen were barred from the hearing for approximately 15 minutes following a short recess last night, but a door left open on the office of Mayor Edwin F. Radel, where the three sessions have been held, carried through it a sharp exchange between Haver and Corporation Counsel William A. Kelly on the appearance of Officer Sapp and Keller.

Sapp was present last night during the recess and walked into the mayor's office for a couple of minutes and then left amid a verbal clash between Haver and Kelly.

Keller, sentenced to serve one and a half to three years at Clinton State Prison for his part in the wave of burglaries which precipitated the probe of the police force, has been ordered to appear before the commissioners.

The former officer was scheduled to appear at Clinton State Prison on Tuesday before the parole board for hearing on a parole application.

Try to Get Keller Here

Efforts were being made today to return Keller here tonight from Dannemora in time for the 7 o'clock hearing. He was returned to Ulster County on Aug. 27 under a court order, obtained by Kelly, to be available as a witness.

Keller, in the past, has declined to testify in investigations of the department.

Another facet of last night's session was the appearance of former officer Harry Tempelaar, of 143 Clinton Avenue. His testimony was withheld from newsmen pending the police board's reserved decision on a motion for dismissal of certain aspects of the testimony.

Tempelaar was convicted, he said, of receiving stolen goods and suspended from the department. He received a one-year suspended sentence.

Former Chief Van Buren, who was subpoenaed late Wednesday afternoon, was the first witness in the three-hour hearing, which began at 7:25 p. m.

Van Buren was questioned on the affidavit, reported missing at Monday evening's hearing and later recovered, signed by Moe Safarty, who said he was a production manager for Prim-Rose. Safarty, in Monday's testimony, said he knew that the burglary at the firm had been reported to a policeman.

Directed to Detectives

A police blotter notation of March 23, 1957 at 7:25 a. m., when the dress firm notified police of the burglary, noted the burglary report with "investigation requested." The blotter notation was directed to the attention of the detective division.

Van Buren was asked by Kelly if "recalled the theft or supposed theft at Primrose." The former chief, who retired last May, said he had "a recollection."

Questioned whether he was on active duty at the time, Van Buren

GOP Intervenors Say Attorneys to Blame For Faulty Signing

Omission of required data on the Economy Party nominating petitions which resulted in failure of the candidate names being certified by the Ulster County Board of Elections and printed on the election ballot, was not due to the fault of the signers but because counsel who prepared the petitions or checked them prior to filing, failed to see that they complied with the statute.

This was one of the points made today at the argument of the appeal before the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in Albany.

Denied by Deckelman

The appeal from the order of Supreme Court Justice William Deckelman which denied, on the merits, an application of the Economy Party for an order to compel the election commissioners to print its candidates names on the ballot, was heard today.

The petitioners, Howard F. Mansfield, John J. Schick, Harry C. McNamara, MD., Howard L. Fox and Carmine Sabino, all candidates on the Economy Party slate, were represented by Pinckney, Cheesman and McDermott of Albany, with Abraham Gelinoff, noted election law attorney of New York City, appearing of counsel and arguing the appeal.

Former District Attorney N. Le Van Haver, Republican City Chairman, argued the appeal for Kenneth L. Wilson, Raymond J. Mino, Fred C. DuBois, Alexander J. Banyo, Republican candidate, and the Republican County Central Committee of Ulster County, intervenors, who appeared as added parties under an application granted by Justice Deckelman at special term. John E. Egan was of counsel.

Allen Rule, Public Housing Criticized

The Kingston Civic Association held a regular meeting Wednesday evening at which time four directors were named to bring the number to the full authorized 11 and the Association also discussed the Kingston school consolidation order of Commissioner Allen as well as action on the Amendments and Propositions which will appear on the ballot this fall.

Alfred J. P. Seitz, Bernie Singer, Zach Hermance and Worthington L. Rider were named directors. This brings the directorship to 11 members who will meet later and select officers for the years.

Order Called Contrary

Included in the order of business was a discussion on the Consolidation order of Commissioner of Education Allen announced Wednesday. Eugene DeDea, chairman of the Education Committee, reported that no action would be taken pending receipt of the official notice. The sentiment expressed at the meeting, however, was that of objection against the ruling which members stated "was obviously contrary to the will of the people."

Bernie Singer reported that the directors had taken a stand against Public Housing and urged a "no" vote on Amendment No. 2, and Propositions No. 1, 2, 3, on the voting machines on Election Day.

Candidates Heard

The business meeting was adjourned about 8:45 o'clock to permit the available candidates for county office to present their platform and answer questions from the floor.

After a prepared address by Howard F. Mansfield, Economy Party candidate to the state assembly, he stated emphatically that he personally "opposes socialized housing and/or any other form of socialism." Only by the "expressed direction" of those he represented would he ever support such legislation. "Government competition against private enterprise is not the American way of life," Mansfield stated.

Rotarians From Eight Counties Are at Institute

The Kingston Rotary Club on Wednesday was host to the 34 Rotary Clubs comprising District 721 of Rotary International at a one-day district institute on Rotary information and extension. Registration Chairman Adrian Kaplan, vice president, reported large delegations from the clubs in the eight counties. The sessions were held in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The institute was conducted by Vernon B. Hamton of Staten Island, Rotary information counselor. A historian, author and lecturer, Hamton is president of National Edwin Markham Association and former president of the Staten Island Historical Society. He also was founder and director of the Richmondtown Restoration Foundation.

Topics Avered

Rider Dig At Mino Is Blasted

Gold Praises His Record on Bench

Harry Gold, former Kingston City Special City Judge, who placed the name of Judge Raymond J. Mino before the Republican County Convention as its choice for the office of district attorney, has taken exception to a statement made by W. L. "Dick" Rider, chairman of the Economy Party, last Tuesday when he referred to Judge Mino's record as city judge.

Judge Gold says in his statement that Rider "obviously knows nothing of Mr. Mino's record as city judge and his slur is another indication of the irresponsibility of the group for whom he speaks."

Calls Record Poor

Rider in a statement issued to the press and published last Tuesday said the Economy Party would as readily have endorsed a Republican (other than John J. Schick ,the Democratic candidate) but Raymond Mino's poor record as city judge eliminated any possibility of his winning our endorsement."

In a statement today, Gold former assistant city judge says that this statement by Rider "resulted only in discrediting the third party and its spokesman."

Gold's Statement

His statement in regard to the matter follows:

"People in public service expect criticism. Unwarranted personal attacks, on those in public service, serve no other purpose than to dissuade decent, capable people from seeking public office.

"In Tuesday's Freeman such an unwarranted personal attack was leveled at Raymond J. Mino, Republican candidate for district attorney by the spokesman for the third party. In the statement released to the press on that day, the spokesman stated that his party failed to endorse a Republican for district attorney because "Raymond Mino's poor record as city judge eliminated any possibility of his winning our endorsement."

Doesn't Know, He Says

"As the one who placed Judge Mino's name in nomination for the office of district attorney at the Republican County Convention, I must protest against this gratuitous and unfounded attack.

"The spokesman obviously knows nothing of Mr. Mino's record as city judge and his slur is another indication of the irresponsibility of the group for whom he speaks.

Sponsors Model Laws

"Ray Mino served as special city judge for four years and as city judge for eight years. His was one of the most outstanding records ever made by any incumbent of that office. During his tenure, he caused the whole procedure of that court to be revised by sponsoring a new City Court Act for the City of Kingston. That act has served as a model for other cities. Also during his term of office Judge Mino recommended to the city

Living Costs Firm, Factory Pay Soars

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported today that living costs remained unchanged in September. At the same time, earnings of factory workers rose to a record level.

It was the second straight month that living costs, after a steady two-year climb, failed to rise. In August there was a slight decline.

900,000 to get Boost

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said its living cost index was unchanged in September from the August level of 123.7 per cent of the 1947-49 base period.

About 900,000 workers in the railroad industry will get a one-cent an hour wage boost effective Nov. 1 as a living cost adjustment based on the new index compared with what it was six months ago.

Factor worker earnings, after deducting federal income and social security taxes, rose to $77.25 a week in September for the worker with three dependents, and to $69.80 for the single worker. Both spendable earning figures represented record highs. They were both about 65 cents above August levels and about $1.80 per week above the figures for September last year.

Buying Power Up

The bureau said factory worker buying power has been increasing steadily from a low point last April because of gradually longer working hours, higher hourly earnings and comparatively steady price levels.

Ewan Clague, Labor Department statistics commissioner, said that the gain in spendable earnings promises to increase national consumption and thus buoy economic recovery.

The living cost level remained steady from August to September because higher prices for clothing, medical care and transportation were offset by lower prices for food and some other consumer cost items.

Food Prices Drop

Food prices dropped three-tenths of one per cent in September. Lower prices for fresh fruits and vegetables, pork, poultry and coffee more than offset higher prices for eggs, milk and bread. Coffee dropped 3.2 per cent to its lowest level since July 1950.

The food price level is still 2.8 per cent higher than a year ago. The over-all living cost level is 2.1 per cent above the year ago mark.

Clague, noting that living costs still are fluctuating near their record mark set earlier this year, cautioned against expecting any sustained decline.

$6,392,874 Paid In State Aid to County in 56-57

A total of $6,392,874 in state aid was received by Ulster County and its various subdivisions during the state's fiscal year 1956-57, it was announced in a report today from the office of State Comptroller Arthur Levitt.

The distribution of state aid in Ulster County during the year ending March 31, 1957, is contained in a special booklet received today from the state comptroller's office.

Includes Several Items

The assistance went to the county itself, and its cities, towns, villages and school districts.

Among items included are payments for highways, welfare, health, veterans, conservation and education.

A total of $3,580,014 was received by Columbia County, $7,275,191 by Dutchess County, $2,496,713 by Greene County and $3,228,694 by Sullivan. This, of course, includes the various subdivisions.

State assistance throughout the state during the fiscal year ending March 31, 1958, amounted to $865,000,000.

The following are 1956-57 state aid payments to all units within the county under each program of state aid:

General purposes, $606,050; highways, $946,515; education, $3,778,086; welfare, $618,390; health $252,520; physically handicapped children, $12,713; youth projects, $14,602; veterans

Renounces Force to Get Land

Return to China Mainland Is Still Mission, He Rules

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—President Chiang Kai-shek ended his talks with Secretary of State Dulles today by renouncing force as the main method of recovering the Communist-ruled mainland.

It was learned on good authority that Chiang also had agreed to consider cutting his off-shore island forces if the Communists silence their guns. This was not contained, however, in a joint communique ending three days of talks with Dulles.

Calls Mission Sacred

Chiang said in the communique it is still the sacred mission of the Nationalists to return to the mainland. But he added: "The foundation of this mission resides in the minds and hearts of the Chinese people."

The principal means of successfully achieving that mission is through nationalism, democracy and social well-being, "and not the use of force," the communique said.

Near Defense Commitment

The communique also went a step closer toward an American commitment to defend the Nationalist-held offshore islands, although it did not make such a flat commitment.

The statement said that the United States and the Nationalist regime "recognized that under present conditions the defense of the Quemoys together with the Matsus is closely related to the defense of Taiwan (Formosa) and Penghu (the Pescadore Islands) in the Formosa Strait."

This was interpreted as a new warning that any Red attempt to take the offshore islands might provoke U.S. intervention.

Dulles left by KC135 jet tanker for Washington after he and Chiang drew up the communique in their fifth meeting since Tuesday.

Moves Alli - Closer

The communique said the renewed Communist bombardment of the Quemoy group and the Red propaganda campaign to divide the United States and Nationalist China had instead drawn the two allies closer together.

The Chinese Communists and their Soviet backers "cannot possibly succeed" in trying to conquer Formosa, eliminate Nationalist China and expel the United States from the western Pacific, the communique declared.

"It is hoped and believed that the Communists, faced by the proven unity, resolution and strength of the U.S. and Nationalist governments, will not put their policy to the test of general war and that they will abandon the military steps they have already taken to initiate their futile and dangerous policy," it said.

Both governments noted that the U.S.-Nationalist military aid treaty "is defensive in character."

See Revolt Coming

However, the Nationalist renunciation of force was interpreted in Taipei as not applying in case the mainland is shaken up by a major revolt against Communist rule. Nationalist leaders have continually insisted that a revolt would come and have stepped up such predictions since Red China recently began to force peasants out of private home life and into communal living.

American officials considered the statement of extreme importance in reassuring America's allies that Chiang's government is prepared to restrain itself. Eu-

Deputy Suspended Pending Probe of Prisoner Escape

Deputy Sheriff Arthur Roland of the Ulster County sheriff's office has been suspended from the department pending an investigation into the escape of a prisoner he was guarding at Kingston Hospital last Monday morning, it was announced today by Sheriff Claude Bell.

Bell said an investigation was under way by his department, as required by the New York State Department of Corrections.

Roland was assigned to guard Arthur Percy Doyle, 20, of West Saugerties, who was in the hospital for treatment of infections of his arms and legs.

Doyle had been taken to the hospital Oct. 15 from the Ulster County jail where he had been incarcerated pending trial on charges of burglary third degree.

The infection was induced by a crude tattoo job reportedly performed by another prisoner.

Roland allegedly left his post for a few minutes about 4 a. m. Monday. Doyle grabbed his blue prison clothes, slipped through the first-floor window, dropped to the ground and escaped. It is believed that he put on his clothes after leaving the hospital.

He stole a car owned by Salvatore DeCicco, 102 Clifton Avenue. The car was later recovered.

Caught at Father's

Six hours later a half dozen deputy sheriffs surrounded the home of Doyle's father in West Saugerties. Deputies Charles McCullough and Peter Peterson entered through a side door with guns drawn and found Doyle hiding behind a sofa in the living room.

Doyle's two brothers, Raymond, 25, and Richard, 16, who were in the kitchen, were picked up and returned to the jail for questioning. They were released late Monday afternoon after it was ascertained that they had taken no part in the escape.

Faces Charges

Doyle will now face a charge of escape and larceny of a car.

He was arrested by Kingston state police in August in connection with a series of burglaries in the West Saugerties area.

Callanan Ninth Firm to Get Plaque Award in Chest Drive

As the Red Feather campaign results passed last year's campaign total, a ninth Honor Plaque Award winning group was announced today by Richard M. Kalish, general campaign chairman.

The Community Chest reported total pledges in hand of $103,124.07 as of Wednesday night, with an additional $5,474 in pledges assured, for a total of 84.4 per cent of the record high goal of $128,651 for 10 Red Feather agencies.

Last year's campaign total was $106,960.

Today's Plaque Award was the employes of Callanan Road Improvement Company of South Rondout, according to Richard A. Stewart, chairman of the Business and Industry Division.

The Callanan employes became the ninth group to meet the two plaque winning standards: a gift of some size from nine out of 10 employes, and a total gift equal to 60 per cent of the employes giving at the Fair Share standard of approximately one hour's pay a month for 12 months.

Previously announced plaque winners were employes of Smith Mail Advertising Service, Kingston Laundry, Kingston Buick, J.

KICKBACKS ARE MONEY—YOUR HARD EARNED MONEY.

The taking of a KICKBACK is just another form of THEFT, THEFT OF YOUR MONEY.

It is agreed that the figure is TREMENDOUS. When MR. TOMPKINS finishes his investigation—THERE SHOULD BE REVEALED WHO GOT HOW MUCH OF YOUR MONEY.

As you well know, when government services and supplies are PADDED WITH KICKBACKS your tax bill goes UP and UP and the BOSSES GET RICHER and RICHER, AND MORE ARROGANT AND DEFIANT. ALL ON YOUR MONEY.

It is also evident that the thieves had to have protection. WHO DO YOU THINK PROTECTED THEM? SOMEONE KNEW THEY HAD THEIR FINGERS IN THE TILL.

We will get the answer from MR. TOMPKINS at additional cost to all of us. A cost which we would not have had to bear if our Ulster County LAW ENFORCEMENT AGENCIES had done their SWORN duty for which they are being paid YOUR hard earned tax money.

RECLAIM YOUR LIBERTY. REDUCE YOUR TAXES.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

More on John Burroughs from the Rev. A. T. Pickett's private memories as she sent them to me. I pick up the story where the Rev. Pickett together with Bessie Barbour, a kindergarten teacher, and John Burroughs visited his former school in East Orange where he had once taught. She goes on to say: "The moppets in the kindergarten were impressed by his long white beard, and wanted to know if he were Santa Claus. Bessie explained to them that he wrote books about birds and flowers, and would like to answer questions about such things. He was amazed at the readiness with which these children crowded about him, talking about their pets and the wild creatures they were interested in."

"But it seemed like a strange kind of schoolroom to Mr. Burroughs, who had taught school in East Orange during Civil War days. He had come to town partly to see the school in which he had taught, when even the youngest children were expected to sit straight and keep still. 'In the half century since then, East Orange had changed so completely that he could recognize no landmarks. Leaving the Oakwood School, we made our way along Main Street, but as Oom John said 'Nothing looked familiar but the sky.' We went into the Eastern School, and Principal Dutcher was delighted to meet the famous author, but unable to satisfy his curiosity, except to surmise that his own school must have been the immediate successor of the one-room wayside school in which Mr. Burroughs had taught. We went then to the Public Library, and found stored in the basement a map of East Orange which was a duplicate of the one which had hung in the young teacher's classroom so long ago."

She further goes on to say how they hunted for John Burroughs old school and he had to leave before she found it herself near an upholstery shop on Main Street, as she writes: "I entered the shop, and saw before me four or five long steps rising to an inner room on a higher level. Here was Oom John's schoolroom. The blackboards were still on the walls, and the pupils' initials carved in the woodwork. I wrote an article for the Newark Evening News about Mr. Burroughs' visit to his old haunts. It showed a Browningesque portrait of him at the time when he was appearing anonymously in the Atlantic and teaching in East Orange, together with a recent one." She adds that she has a copy of this article and had been paid cash for it. Oom John wrote to her on it in part: "Thank you for sending me the little sketch. The sketch was cleverly done, and gave me much pleasure."

Perhaps other readers have pleasant memories of the national famous naturalist, John Burroughs who lived in our own Ulster County and enjoyed and wrote about this area. He was born in 1837 and died in 1921. He wrote about what he saw around him in the sky, on the ground and all the little animals who romped around him. The flowers and birds he enjoyed and loved and was able to put down on paper for coming generations to enjoy. Few people have time to slow down for such pleasures today. His profession as a teacher no doubt helped him to be exact in his descriptions and research was part of his pleasure in writing.

UAW, Mack Truck Talks Resume Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiations resume today between representatives of the United Auto Workers and the Mack Truck Co. in efforts to end a strike going into its fourth day.

The union and company went into separate sessions Wednesday night to review their respective demands. The issues in the dispute have not been disclosed.

The walkout affects about 9,000 workers at plants in Allentown, Pa.; Plainfield and Somerville, N. J.; Cortland, N. Y., and Sidney, Ohio. The strike started at midnight Sunday.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—"Gateways to the Mind," first in the season's Bell System science series visible on the home screen tonight, is an interesting examination of the human senses.

A preview last week of the filmed NBC-TV program revealed it as being of interest to any viewer willing to spend an hour in contemplation of how he communicates with the world about him.

Intent Commendable

Dr. Frank C. Baxter conducts the program, which relies heavily on animated drawings and a rather self-conscious stage organization.

The intent of this program is highly commendable, for it swims bravely against the escape entertainment trend.

Nevertheless, I found myself vaguely annoyed by some of the cuteness and coy dialogue that flabbily padded the strong bones of the program. Dr. Baxter ambles around a movie sound stage while various actors, playing stage hands, egg his erudition on with a "Gee whiz, Doc" form of dialogue.

A secondary school teacher to whom I described the program told me that I'm all wet in my reaction. When you're presenting complex ides to youthful minds—with whom, among others, the program wishes to communicate—you must constantly ease "the learning tensions" with a variety of visual and oral gimmicks, the teacher said.

Razzle-Dazzle Stage

The gateway to my mind was opened widest in the last quarter of the program when it reaches the razzle-dazzle stage of the human senses. There is an illuminating examination of illusions on the basis of experiments by Dr. Hadley Cantril of Princeton.

Even more interesting is the examination of mental activity through sensory stimulation as demonstrated by Dr. Wilder Penfield of McGill University.

Personally, I wish the program started with its last quarter and went on from there. But apparently, on the basis of what my teacher friend told me, it's a good thing that it doesn't.

SEA LEGS—Rising out of the water on spiderlike stilts, a new passenger boat races full speed ahead in a test run at San Juan, Puerto Rico. Called the "Flying Fish," the craft is constructed with a hydrofoil system that elevates the hull out of the water, thereby reducing drag and permitting speeds of nearly 50 m.p.h. The 20-ton boat can carry as many as 72 passengers plus considerable cargo with a smooth motion that virtually eliminates seasickness.

Along Capitol Corridors

By HARVEY TRAVIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — After the politicians learn the victors in the Nov. 4 election they will move swiftly to analysis of the Liberal Party vote.

The Liberal vote may not be the key to the election. But strategists of both major parties are most curious to see how this Democratic booster shot stands up in rough weather.

Four years ago, Averell Harriman defeated Republican Irving M. Ives by 11,125 votes. Of Harriman's 2,560,738 votes, 264,093 came on the Liberal Party line. The rest were Democratic.

Party Treated Liberally

Liberals, as a result, were treated liberally when political jobs were distributed. Further, their views about legislation were given favorable Democratic consideration. Twice this year, Harriman vetoed the Republicans' unemployment insurance bill, which would have compelled seasonal industry to contribute a bigger share to the jobless pay fund. After a third draft eased the financing provisions, Harriman signed it.

The Liberal Party is tied closely to the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, and apparel work is largely seasonal.

Although virtually all labor organizations opposed the measure, Republican leaders pictured Harriman's maneuvering as an outright reward to the Liberal Party.

Friction Out in Open

This year Democratic-Liberal friction came out in the open at the Democrats' convention in Buffalo in August.

As Democrats, including Harriman and Tammany Leader Carmine DeSapio, thrashed over the selection of a U. S. Senate candidate, the Liberal Party convened in New York and nominated Thomas K. Finletter, former Air Force secretary. Finletter was Harriman's first choice.

But after a seven-hour closed-door session, DeSapio successfully pushed the nomination of Manhattan Prosecutor Frank S. Hogan. Finletter then told the Liberals he was withdrawing and they endorsed Hogan. However, they did not hide their displeasure.

Once the campaign began, prominent Democrats scoffed at reports of friction between their party and the Liberals. Finletter heads a so-called Citizens' Committee plugging for Hogan's election.

AG Vote May Tell

But seasoned observers see this as a feverish Democratic effort to hold the coalition together—at least until election day.

The Liberals, in what is regarded as a muscle-flexing move, withheld their endorsement of Peter J. Crotty, Buffalo attorney who is the Democrats' candidate for attorney general.

Instead, they nominated Edward Goodell of New York City, who is running against Crotty and the Republican incumbent, Louis J. Lefkowitz.

The vote on this three-way contest may provide the best spotlight on the Liberal Party vote. If the Liberals stick faithfully to Goodell they take away votes that Crotty ordinarily could count on.

Clymer Hunter Fatally Wounded By Shotgun Blast

CLYMER, N. Y. (AP) — A 72-year-old Clymer hunter was fatally wounded by a shotgun blast near this Chautauqua County village Wednesday.

The victim, Alexander Wroblewski died in Corry, Pa., Memorial Hospital shortly after he was admitted.

Authorities said Wroblewski's 12-guage shotgun apparently slipped from his hand as he was standing on a tree stump looking for game birds. The weapon hit the ground and discharged through his left hand and struck the right side of his head.

His son, Joseph, was about 200 yards away when he heard the shot and ran to his father's aid.

EYES ON 1960

Some Republican politicians already are thinking beyond 1958's elections to the presidential year 1960. And some of their ideas represent quite a departure from the standard lines we've been hearing for the last year or so.

Most GOP leaders, of course, indicate either privately or publicly that they do not expect to "pull a Truman" and score a substantial victory Nov. 4 against all predictions. With them it seems to be chiefly a matter of holding the losses as low as possible.

Starting from that point, they look ahead to a considerably altered political landscape in 1959 and beyond.

The voice of the party's right wing in Congress could be markedly diminished. Some members, like Senators Knowland of California, Martin of Pennsylvania and Jenner of Indiana, have retired. Others stand in danger of defeat.

To be sure, the liberal Republican ranks already are somewhat depleted, too, and may suffer still further in November. The GOP holds just 19 of the 48 governorships and is not expected to draw closer this fall. In the past, Republican governors have more often than not tended toward the liberal wing.

But if the conservatives also are cut back, the two wings may thereafter be in closer balance than seemed likely a while ago. This would lessen the prospect that right wing leaders could govern the selection of the party's 1960 presidential nominee.

Up to now Vice President Nixon has seemed reasonably acceptable to both wings, as a man who once was rather closely identified with conservative elements and now is labeled an "Eisenhower Republican."

Yet his position is not as secure as it was. Heavy GOP losses in California, his home state, could tarnish his prestige. Senator Knowland, running for governor, and Governor Knight, seeking Knowland's Senate seat, are reported in an uphill fight there.

Furthermore, if Nelson Rockefeller should win the New York governorship, liberal Republicans would have an attractive alternative of a sort they now lack. Few doubt he would be projected quickly into the national picture in event of victory.

In such a situation, the expected reduction of right wing forces would take on major significance. Many party men then would be looking for a sharp struggle for the 1960 nomination.

But all the party's speculations in this vein hinge on what happens Nov. 4. Any politician worth his salt will be watching those returns like a hawk.

KERCHOO

That's what everybody's been telling their doc—there ought to be a pill that can keep you from catching a cold. And finally, a British health official thinks he has one.

It's the antibiotics again. You get that scratchy feeling in the throat or the sniffles, you let the pills dissolve in your mouth and—zip—you're healthy again.

For a while we'll have to take a grain of salt with his news instead of the pill until further tests check it out.

CONTROL OVER CONTROLS

The National Wildlife Federation is exercised because, as it says in a recent issue of Conservation News, the nation's chemical manufacturers "are shooting at a pesticide-herbicide goal" of a billion dollars by 1975. The Federation's concern ought to be shared, in some degree, by the general public.

To say this is not to imply that there is anything inherently bad about chemical control of pests and weeds. On the contrary, poisons of this kind have been and will continue to be of tremendous value. The danger is that, in its zeal to push for greater and greater sales, the chemical industry may not give enough consideration to possible harmful effects of such poisons.

More research on the ultimate effects, and on safer ways to use chemicals to control weeds and insects, is needed. If the chemical industry is reluctant to undertake comprehensive studies, then government agencies ought to do so.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE BOSS

Political party leadership is a normal response to the necessity of having some one to manipulate the machinery of party organization. In a large area such as New York City is, where 8,000,000 people live and work, it is likely that political party leadership will be more important than in a village of 300 families. As the Democratic Party generally prevails in three out of the five boroughs of the city and as the Republican Party is practically non-existent in those three boroughs of heaviest population concentration, it stands to reason that the Democratic political leader of New York City is likely to be quite a figure.

There have been a number of such leaders and they have been known variously for corruption, astuteness, wisdom, incompetence, competence. There was the notorious Bill Tweed, the tricky Richard Croker who left the country in a hurry, the sagacious Charlie Murphy and now the unusual Carmine DeSapio.

DeSapio is literate which used to be an offensive word among politicians; he is urbane which is unexpected. He is Italian in origin and thinks with a Latin twist which makes him less understandable to the more direct Irish and Anglo-Saxons. He does not fight rough, but he most often wins by maneuvers. He is not always wise in the selection of candidates or political associates but he wins elections. He is the most articulate leader Tammany Hall has ever had, the leaders in the past generally remaining silent and letting the candidates do all the talking.

The Republicans in New York State have made an issue of DeSapio, but it has not affected public opinion one way or the other. Instead of permitting himself to be attacked and waiting for Averell Harriman to defend him or to ignore the attacks, DeSapio went off on his own, attacking Nelson Rockefeller, stating his own case, and almost giving the appearance that it was a campaign of DeSapio vs. Rockefeller.

In the Democratic Party, Averell Harriman owes his governorship to Carmine DeSapio who did not have to take him. During Harriman's first term, he and DeSapio were close. They have lost much of their friendship, first, because DeSapio objects to the A.D.A. group associated with Harriman and secondly, because Harriman's candidate for United States Senator was Thomes F. Finletter, while DeSapio's was Frank Hogan. Hogan was nominated. A more logical choice than either was James A. Farley who was not nominated. It is known that if caught in a pinch, DeSapio would have accepted Farley but not Fineletter; similarly Harriman, in a pinch, would have accepted Thomas E. Murray but never Farley. The nomination of Hogan made the Governor cool, but not cool enough to court defeat. There will be a show-down between Harriman and DeSapio and my guess is that the Governor will have a hard time, for despite his gentleness, refinement and grammatical English, DeSapio is not to be excepted ever to be soft.

The civic question for those of us who are not engaged in partisanship is of what value such a Boss is and the answer can only be that someone must operate party machinery if we are to have a machine and DeSapio is literate; he is conscious of public needs and he avoids scandals. Maybe the latter is not too difficult because we live in an apathetic era and the public takes corruption in its stride. But the administration of government in New York needs an overhauling. It is poor government, inadequately administered by commissioners who range from high grade to incompetents.

DeSapio, with rare forbearance, knows with whom not to tangle. For instance, one of the most effective commissioners in New York City is the Police Commissioner, Stephen Kennedy, who came up from the ranks, has a university degree and an FBI Academy certificate. He is both a tough and an honest cop. DeSapio stays strictly away from Kennedy. If he exercises a Boss's privileges in the city, it is not with the Police Department. I doubt whether he has ever asked for a ticket to be torn up.

The dynamics of the man is enormous; his ambitions are large. Some of the old politicans of both parties wonder how an Italian wandered into their preserves. The answer is that he has, and thus far, has been successful. He is a new kind of Boss in a new generation.

German Measles Important Cause of Defects at Birth

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

The question of congenital defects is a matter of vital concern to thousands of parents and to the youngsters involved.

Among the more common of these congenital malformations are harelip and cleft palate, club foot, and what is called congenital heart disease. There are a number of others such as web fingers, but perhaps those mentioned are the most frequent.

There are some truly hereditary diseases, but congenital defects are almost certainly not inherited. So a young adult contemplating marriage need not fear any great risk of passing these defects on.

A good deal of work has been done in recent years on the origin and possible means of preventing at least some of these malformations which are present at birth. Probably the most important known factor is acquiring German measles (rubella) by the mother during the first three months of pregnancy.

Analysis of evidence on this score suggests that the potential risk of giving birth to a congenitally malformed child is increased approximately six times if the mother has had German measles during the critical period. Put another way, the frequency of congenital malformations in the children of such mothers is about 12 out of 100.

So far as German measles is concerned, one writer recommends that young girls should be deliberately exposed, since an attack generally provides life-long immunity. He also recommends that women pregnant during the first three months who are exposed to German measles should be given immediately large doses of gamma globlulin.

It is quite likely that German measles is not the only thing which may increase the risk of giving birth to a child with some malformation. For example, a recent report from England indicates that a high proportion of mothers whose infants were born with major defects had had an acute illness with fever or pulmonary tuberculosis, or had been engaged in certain types of heavy work during the early period of their pregnancies.

Certainly, we do not yet know all the answers, though encouraging progress is being made. What everyone hopes for is a method of preventing these congenital defects so that all children can enter life without unnecessary handicaps.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — "Public relations" at the U. S. State Department involves a whole lot more than handling press and radio news conferences, issuing handouts on official statements of policy and texts of speeches by Secretary John Foster Dulles.

There is a problem of dealing directly with the American people—the citizens of the democracy who have an interest in this far-flung international relations business the country has got itself into since World War II. Taxpayers demand service. The public relations problem is to give it to them.

There are about 2,000 organizations in the United States which profess some interest in foreign affairs. State Department tries to keep in touch with them—particularly the 300 that are most active, with big memberships.

ONE STATE DEPARTMENT liaison officer is assigned full time to working with churches and service clubs. Another to women's clubs, young peoples' groups and educational institutions. Still another to veterans, labor and farm groups.

Once a month from 25 to 50 Washington representatives of the most active organizations come to the department for an hour's briefing on current developments. They ask questions whose answers are relayed to their memberships.

Twice a year representatives from about 200 national organizations come in for a day-and-a-half conference on what's new.

In the spring and fall busloads of high school and college youngsters are brought to Washington on tours. When they request it, they are given an hour's briefing on the foreign policy situation and what the State Department is doing about it.

The Public Services division runs a Speech Branch. Last year it supplied State Department officials for 1,000 talks to organizations interested in some phase of foreign policy. This service is free. But about 500 invitations a year have to be turned down because there aren't enough experts available to meet the demand.

RIGHT NOW, EVERYONE wants a speaker for United Nations Day, Oct. 24, and requests can't possibly be met.

To help fill the gap, the department also runs a service to supply statements from high officials, or greetings which can be read at meetings or conventions which they can't attend. It takes the full time of one officer just to handle requests made on Secretary Dulles.

Audiences and individuals that the department can't reach with the spoken word, it tries to cover with printed material. This is the work of a Publications Branch.

The department publishes a weekly "Bulletin" with a circulation of about 6,000 at home and overseas. It's really a historical record of all treaties and important State papers, including major foreign policy speeches by President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles.

All this material is condensed into a bi-weekly State Department "Brief"— a single blue sheet of tabloid newspaper size sent to 4,000 interested officials. Armed forces buy 5,000 for their troop indoctrination courses. And there is a sale through Government Printing Office of 12,000 copies an issue.

THEN THERE IS a whole series of special publications. Sixty were published last year. Included are special country or area studies for people interested in one particular field of foreign policy, atomic energy, trade agreements or disarmament. There are primers on how foreign policy is made, what an ambassador and a commercial counsel do. These are the things that people have written in for in quantity and the demand has to be met.

For high school debaters, background information kits are made up. This year's topic is: "Resolved—that further development of nuclear weapons should be prohibited by international agreement." The kits will include material for arguing either side. In a democracy like the U.S.A.—that's how foreign policy gets made at the grass roots.

'Hate Group' Masterminds Are Sought by U. S. Agents

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Governmental agencies whose responsibility it is to ferret out subversive acts which might have their inspiration here or abroad are working overtime trying to discover the motivating influences and conspirators behind the recent bombings of churches and threats of bombings in different parts of the United States.

Agents of the "hate groups" are undoubtedly the perpetrators of the bombings—the most despicable acts of violence America has seen in a long time—but the really big question is the identity of the masterminds behind the plots.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities four years ago issued a report on the "hate groups" but conceded it had not had the opportunity to make as exhaustive an examination as was needed. A few days ago the Jewish War Veterans rightly asked the House committee to pursue the matter.

Report on 'Hate Groups'

In the 1954 report, the House committee denounced the "organized hate group, which masquerades of a defender of our republican form of government yet conducts hate campaigns against racial and religious minorities in the infamous tradition of the fascist dictatorships." The report went on to say:

"The hate group appeals to the unwary by a cynical use of concepts having a deep emotional appeal to the majority of decent citizens — love of God, country, home; or antipathy to communism. Amid protestations of patriotism and religious devotion, these groups propagate hoaxes and smears aimed at setting creed against creed and race against race. They use the divisive tactics of the Communist whom they allegedly deplore."

Success of 'Tactics'

In a sense, the "divisive tactics" have been partly successful. Already some hot-heads are blaming the bombings on the "climate" created by those editors and writers who have had the temerity in free America to discuss a highly controversial question like integration. If the same misguided logic were applied, then the justices of the Supreme Court who four years ago brought the controversy into such sharp focus in the United States would have to accept some of the blame, too. "Hate groups" have been operating against racial and religious groups since long before the 1954 decision on desegregation in the schools.

Nowhere in America have the bombings been deplored with more indignation than in the South. As for the "hate groups," they, like their Communist auxiliaries, always try to fish in troubled waters. They endeavored deliberately to provoke just the reaction that the bombings have just produced from those who are condemning whole areas and all the people therein.

Americans Alerted

The answer to a most vexatious problem, political or social, never is to be found by suppression of news or in stifling discussion. Rumors fly fast when news is suppressed, and the end result is worse than exposure would have been. It is an ill wind that blows no good—and the fullest revelation of the existence of organized "hate groups" and what they do is bound to alert more and more Americans hereafter to the insidious campaigns which have been waged in the past to cause friction between religions and between races.

There was a time when a good deal of anti-Catholic propaganda was being widely spread in this country by organized groups, and some of it still persists, but an expose every now and then did more than any other single influence to squelch such un-American activities. The committee of the House can do a constructive service next January by beginning a systematic study of the "hate groups" and their relationship to persons and organizations in foreign countries who send their literature here and supply funds for its distribution.

Uses of 1st Amendment

To say that the recent bombings are in any way the responsibility of those Americans who live in the South or who have expressed themselves on these issues is to add fuel to the flames of friction. It will be resented as it properly should be.

Likewise, those who insist on mislabeling every adverse comment on the integration issue as "defiance" or "resistance" or as advocating "lawlessness" are promoting the chauvinistic doctrine that only the state can speak and that the citizen must accept an enforced silence. In interpreting the First Amendment of the Bill of Rights, the Supreme Court of the United States has upheld the right of Communist sympathizers to preach and advocate the overthrow of our government by force. This is going pretty far. Certainly, Americans should at least have the right to advocate, if they wish, such an innocuous cause as private schools for their children and to argue publicly for lawful ways of organizing such institutions without being charged with "defiance" and "resistance" and "lawlessness." The First Amendment is still supposed to protect the utterances of true liberals as well as those of "phony" liberals.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "Give the best you can," said Donald Crisp.

"Whatever you do, do it thoroughly and all out for whatever wages you get. That is the oatmeal and groats of living."

At 78 Crisp, filmdom's "Old Reliable," doesn't have to worry where his next bowl of oatmeal is coming from. In his 52-year career he has been everything from a prop boy to a financial prop of the motion picture industry, and today he is rated one of Hollywood's wealthier figures.

Good Director, Too

Some 374 performances before the camera—the latest as the cardinal in John Ford's new Columbia release, "The Last Hurrah"—have stamped Crisp as one of the greatest and best-loved movie character actors. He won an Oscar in "How Green Was My Valley."

But the public tends to forget that Crisp also was a pretty fine director. Among the 100 films he directed was "The Mark of Zorro" with Douglas Fairbanks and "Svengali," with John Barrymore.

"The best move I ever made was to stop directing back in 1929," said Crisp cheerfully. "At that time everybody was trying to get into pictures — not only the banker, but the banker's daughter."

Crisp, a bank director himself, has always been a canny man with a buck and helped arrange the financing of many pictures over the years.

Fought in Boer War

Born in Scotland, he fought in the Boer War, then saved for more than five years to earn his passage to America in 1906.

"The day I arrived I deposited $53 in a New York bank," he remarked, "and it's still there."

One of his first acting chores was in the 1908 release of "The French Maid," made by the Biograph-Mutoscope Co.

A Hollywood pioneer from the start, he loves to recall the early days .... When he loaned Cecil B. de Mille his first camera .... When he played Gen. Grant in D. W. Griffith's "Birth of a Nation."

"I broke with Griffith because he refused to give me film credit for directing the battle scenes in that picture.

"It cost $61,000 to make the film, and I helped convince William H. Clune, a Los Angeles theater owner, to put up $43,000 of it. His estate later took out more than nine million dollars from that one picture."

Likes Arliss Best

Looking back across the years, Crisp believes George Arliss was the most fascinating character he ever met.

"He had an old-school polish, a charm that now belongs to a forgotten world," he said.

"As a man grows older he finds it harder to accept the new world that springs up around him. Perhaps it is because he still likes to do things the way he was taught.

"But there's one thing we had in the old days that we may lack now—the willingness to try anything. Now there is something wrong.

"We have time now to make all the retakes we need, even time to teach an actress how to dress. But sometimes it all seems too manufactured.

"But my philosophy is that we're all kin, yet don't see the same, and that makes the world. You must learn tolerance for the other person's view."

Crisp has had considerable tragedy in his life. He lost two sons in World War fighting, and the death of his wife left him lonely.

Now in his still-vigorous age he is comforted by these lines from a hymn he first sang as a choir boy at 10:

"We plow the fields and scatter the seed. He paints the clouds and lights the evening star."

The North Star, Polaris, is so far away that its light takes nearly 500 years to come to the earth. If a person could be on Polaris with a telescope powerful enough to observe the earth, he would only now be seeing Christopher Columbus' ships landing on the shores of the New World.

Outlook Improves For Auto Output

DETROIT (AP)—The 1959 model production picture continued to improve in the nation's auto industry today, hit recently by a series of strikes.

General Motors reported 98 plants employing 231,084 United Auto Workers had reached settlement on local grievances. Chrysler said it operated Wednesday without a strike, and the last remaining dispute between the UAW and American Motors Corp. was reported settled.

GM and UAW negotiators were striving to settle local walkouts in the remainder of the giant firm's plants. GM employs 275,000 workers in 126 plants across the nation.

Two plants in Flint, Mich.,—the AC Spark Plug Division and the Ternsted Division—were the targets of a strike by the Society of Skilled Trades, an independent union. But they remained in operation despite the picket lines.

Joseph Dunnebeck, president of the SST, said the strike is an effort to have the union recognized as bargaining agent for skilled workers. He added:

"It was a necessary action to prevent ourselves from being trapped into industrial union membership."

Asks Subsidy on Ships

WASHINGTON (AP) — American Export Lines Inc. is asking the federal government for a subsidy to operate ships between the Great Lakes and the Mediterranean.

The company said in its request, filed Wednesday, that traffic on the route would increase substantially after the opening next year of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The seaway will allow ocean-going ships with drafts up to 27 feet to travel from the Atlantic to the Great Lakes ports. The draft limit now is 14 feet.

American Export said that, if a subsidy were granted, it would operate three ships on the route.

The line asked for a subsidy to cover at least one sailing during each of the months that weather permitted traffic on the lakes.

Federal shipping subsidies make up the difference between actual operating costs of U. S. ships and the rates charged to keep American ships competitive with foreign-flag vessels.

Snark Missile Fired

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A sleek Snark guided missile, the only U.S. weapon now capable of flying intercontinental range, blazed across the Atlantic early today.

Launching of the 69-foot missile on what reportedly was a 3,000-mile halfway shot and return to the Cape came in the wake of the Army's failure to blast a balloon satellite into orbit.

Two high-thrust booster rockets toppled away in flames shortly after takeoff and a powerful turbojet engine roared into action to carry the Snark over the lengthy route.

The Snark, now in mass production, travels at only 600 m.p.h.—very slow for a missile—but it has amazing accuracy.

Boy, 12, Kills Girl, 2

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A 12-year-old boy has told police he killed his 2-year-old girl playmate in a fit of rage after she struck his injured eye.

Olden Goldberg was charged with homicide Wednesday night and taken to the youth study center to await a formal hearing in Juvenile Court today.

Police said marks on Geraldine Williams' body indicated that Olden hit the child, then strangled her. Patrolmen found her body in a yard near her home. It was wrapped in newspaper and stuffed in a wicker shopping basket. She had been missing for two days.

The boy is white; the girl was Negro.

Methodist Men Hold First Meeting Monday

The first meeting of the newly-chartered Men's Club of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church will be held at the church on Monday, 7:30 p. m.

New members will be greeted by William Brown, president. After a devotional meeting and a short business meeting, a film, "Inside Football With Bud Wilkinson" will be shown. Refreshments and recreation will follow.

Heads Seaway Operations

MASSENA, N. Y. (AP(— L. M. Hale is the new director of marine and engineering operations for the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp.

He has been resident engineer on the seaway since construction was started in 1954.

Hale succeeds Vice Adm. Herbert H. McLean (ret.) in the operations post. McLean has been named a marine consultant.

Hale's appointment was announced Wednesday by Administrator Lewis G. Castle of the development corporation.

Radio Hams' to Get Special Auto Plates

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — New York State is going to provide special plates for its hams.

The motor vehicles bureau announced Wednesday that, beginning in 1960, amateur radio operators of the state would be eligible to obtain automobile registration plates carrying their radio call letters.

Commissioner Joseph P. Kelly said operators holding permanent radio licenses from the Federal Communications Commission would be eligible for the special registrations.

He said the identification would facilitate what he termed the humane activities performed by amateur radio operators.

The special plates will cost $5 above the regular registration fee.

Close Races Develop

TYNDALL AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP) — Close races developed today in two of the three divisions in the Air Force's Worldwide Weapons Meet.

The 526th Squadron from Wiesbaden, Germany, and the 125th Air National Guard Squadron from Jacksonville, Fla., were tied in the F'86 Saber Jet division with 6,800 points each.

The Saber Jets use Mighty Mouse rockets in shooting down jet drones simulating enemy aircraft.

Another Non-Com Will Face Trial In Recruit Case

FT. JACKSON, S. C. (AP)—A general court-martial board convenes Monday to hear charges against a second Ft. Jackson sergeant involving mistreatment of recruits.

Sgt. 1. C. Charles Moman, 28, of Empire, Ala., is accused in the same case which led to the conviction Tuesday of Master Sgt. George Sovie, 30, of Ogdensburg, N. Y.

Just as in Sovie's case, Moman is charged with assault and battery and maltreatment of trainees assigned to Company B, 4th Battalion, 1st Training Regiment.

Sovie was found guilty of five of seven charges against him but got off with a light sentence. The court-martial board ordered him reduced one rank to sergeant first class and fined $450.

Moman's name cropped up several times in prosecution testimony.

First Lt. Gerald Wheatley, 24, of Bridgeton, N. J., is scheduled for trial following Moman's court-martial. Wheatley, a 1956 Citadel graduate, is charged with neglect of duty and conduct unbecoming an officer.

May Expand TV Teaching

CORTLAND, N. Y. (AP) — The State Education Department is considering expansion of its first, regular program for teaching by television. The program is now in the fledgling stage.

The television project was inaugurated this year in Cortland. A closed-circuit network serves schools in this city and in nearby Truxton and Virgil.

Corning, Elmira and Ithaca, also in this central New York region, have shown interest in joining the network.

Representatives of education departments of those communities met Wednesday to discuss possible methods of utilizing present cable installations.

No decision was reached. Francis E. Almstead, special consultant for television to the state Education Department, participated in the conference. Another meeting was set for Dec. 10.

Headquarters of the project are in Cortland, lessons are beamed to classrooms over circuits that provide two-way, communication between teacher and student.

Electric Rate Stays

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP(— The Public Service Commission decided today to let stand an electricity-rate increase of $4,225,000 put into effect last Feb. 1 by the New York State Electric & Gas Corp.

The PSC had allowed the increase pending completion of hearings.

Examiner Russel E. Dunn reported to the commission after the hearings that the company had demonstrated a need for the increase and the new rates did not appear to give the utility an excessive return.

New York State Eelectric & Gas Corp. serves about 443,000 electricity customers in eastern and central New York.

'Ready Grin' Just Part Time

Ike's Campaign Called Repeat of 1954 Drive

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's philosophy of the "ready grin" is only part-time.

That's why for him this year's congressional campaign is a repeat of 1954. Then and now he hung back at first from a full-blown attack on Democrats. But when things got tough he wound up clubbing them.

Eisenhower revealed his philosophy to Republicans on his Oct. 14 birthday. While he was still young in the Army, he said, an older soldier told him the most important quality for a staff officer was a "ready grin." He practiced it.

In time he became chief of staff and famous for his grin. Do the same, he told Republicans: "As you see someone irritating you, just grin."

Doesn't Always Work

He neglected to say it doesn't always work.

In 1953 — after his sensational election and while his Republicans controlled Congress and Democrats were extraordinarily nice to him—he indicated he wouldn't be very active in the 1954 congressional elections.

He explained: Anybody occupying the White House was president of all the people and he had no intention of going out and getting into partisan struggles in any district or state.

But 1954 came and with it a growing likelihood voters were going to throw out the Republicans —as they did—and give the Democrats control of Congress. His fellow Republicans flocked to him for help. In the end he plunged into the campaign.

He had to campaign, of course, in 1956 when he himself was running for re-election.

Most Savage Attack

As the 1958 congressional elections rolled around, Eisenhower once again showed signs of wanting to remain above the strife. Again reports piled up indicating another Democratic victory. Once more Eisenhower packed his ready grin in the trunk and went into the campaign, making at Los Angeles this week perhaps his most savage attack on Democrats.

Vice President Nixon, another specialist in grinning, has never shown any of Eisenhower's reluctance to get into the rough-and-tumble of the campaign.

He leaped at the Democrats jugular in 1954, in such a way that many of them have never forgiven him. Now he's at their throats again. Once again the Democrats are sore.

But this time some Democrats are sore at Eisenhower, as well as at Nixon, for the ruggedness of his attack on them.

Wednesday, Paul Butler, Democratic national chairman, said after this campaign he believes "many Americans of all political beliefs will share a feeling of disquiet, perhaps of shame, over the tone of the Eisenhower-Nixon campaign of 1958."

Does this mean that if the Democrats win they'll abando. their restraint and respect towards Eisenhower and make his last two years in the White House rough ones?

Butler says no, that victorious Democrats would not "stoop to partisan bickering." The trouble with this pronouncement is that Butler has no control over what Democrats in Congress do or want to do.

In his first six White House years Eisenhower—perhaps mainly because Democrats have a healthy respect for his broad popularity—has faced comparatively little attack on himself.

But it will be astonishing if the Democrats continue to lay off him during these next two years which, in a way, will be a preparation by both parties for the combined presidential and congressional elections of 1960.

Hogan on TV Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—New York County Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan, Democratic candidate for U. S. Senate, will deliver a filmed television address tonight over eight New York State stations.

The 15-minute speech, filmed Wednesday, will be shown over station WCBS-TV at 6:45 p. m. and over these stations at 11:15 p. m.: Wben-TV, Buffalo; Wten-TV, Albany; WINR-TV, Binghamton; WKVT-TV, Utica; When-TV, Syracuse; WROC-TV, Rochester; and WCNY-TV, Watertown.

Man, 75, Succumbs To Burns From Water

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Edgar Weill, 75, died Wednesday night of burns received Saturday from scalding water.

The police said Weill was found seated, fully clothed in a bathtub at the rooming house where he lived. The water had overflowed the tub and spread into another room.

They said they have been unable to learn how or why Weill got into the tub.

May Cut Day Service

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Public Service Commission today authorized the New York Central to discontinue its last daytime passenger train between Watertown and Utica, weekend service between Utica and Ogdensburg and its Ogdensburg-Canton limousine service.

The railroad must continue all other St. Lawrence Division trains, the PSC said.

The commission allowed the Central to discontinue these trains: Beeliner 185, an afternoon train from Utica to Watertown, Beeliner 186, a morning train from Watertown to Utica, and morning Train 187 from Utica to Ogdensburg. The Beeliners operate daily except Sunday. Train 187 runs Sunday only.

Also discontinued Saturday nights will be Train 190, a night train from Ogdensburg to Utica making main line connections for New York. The train will continue to operate Sundays through Fridays.

Congress passed the bill repealing laws to exclude Chinese from the United States in 1944.

464 Drivers Lose Registration in September Month

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Police caught 464 uninspected motor vehicles on the highways last month and their registrations were suspended, Motor Vehicle Commissioner Joseph P. Kelly reported today.

The vehicles removed from the road were 1950 and older models, which were due for inspection before September.

So far this year, 1,826 vehicles have been suspended for failure to get checkups under the state's compulsory inspection law, Kelly said.

The Motor Vehicle Bureau also suspended the registrations of 2,170 other vehicles during September when they failed to pass inspection and they were not repaired and re-inspected within 10 days.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

IBM Appoints Churchland Man Product Engineer

HARRY S. HOFFMAN

International Business Machines Corporation today announced the appointment of Harry S. Hoffman Jr., of Saugerties, as product engineer in product engineering at the company's Military Products Division plant at Kingston.

Hoffman joined IBM as a customer engineer in June 1950. Transferred as a technical engineer to IBM Kingston's early Sage air defense computer development in May, 1954, he was promoted to associate engineer in computer equipment design in May, 1955, and to project engineer in November, 1055.

A U. S. Navy veteran, Hoffman attended the University of Pennsylvania and earned a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering at Case Institute of Technology. Avtice in community affairs, he is district chairman of the Saugerties District Boy Scouts, director of the Saugerties Junior Chamber of Commerce and member of the Saugerties Board of Education.

Hoffman, his wife, Elizabeth, and children Barbara, 7, Sharon, 6, William, 4, and Robert, 1, reside at Old Churchland Road.

Four Rural School Houses to Be Sold Early Next Year

Four rural school houses—High Woods, Fish Creek, Daisy and Veteran—in Saugerties Central School District will be sold in January according to the wishes of school district voters, it was announced today by Dr. Grant D. Morse, superintendent of schools.

Sold at public auction will be schoolhouses at High Woods, January 7; Fish Creek, sometime in January; Daisy, January 30 and Veteran January 15. All sales will be at 7:30 p. m. at the respective schools.

Voters in four other districts —West Camp, Glenerie, Blue Mountain and West Saugerties —have previously approved the selling of the school building in their district, and arrangements for these sales will be made shortly.

Voters in each of the communities concerned balloted on three propositions:

1. Authorizing the sale of the building, site and other property of the former rural school district not needed for use in the centralized district.
2. Authorization to sell at the best price obtainable.
3. Proceeds of the sale in excess of the cost of disposal to be turned over to the Central School District.

High Woods, Fish Creek, Daisy and Veteran voted yes on the first two propositions. Only High Woods voted yes on Proposition 3. The other three former rural districts voted not to turn the proceeds over to the centralized district.

According to Dr. Morse, proceeds from the latter three will be distributed to property owners in the district on the basis of assessed valuation. The central school district handling arrangements for the sale will make the distribution.

Methodists Will Dedicate New ParsonageSunday

The congregation of Saugerties Methodist Church will dedicate its new parsonage on Finger Street Extension Sunday at 4 p. m.

The District Sunperintendent of the Kingston District the Rev. W. B. Grossman will consecrate the new building and will speak briefly on the accompishments of the local church in relation to the New York Conference.

The choir, directed by Lewis Gaylord and accompanied by Mrs. Jane Tonnesen will sing "Bless This House," and Happy the Home When God Is There."

Miss France Maxwell, superintendent of the Sunday School, will speak briefly on the benefits derived from the parish house which has been converted from the old parsonage on Post Street. The parsonage was built to make room for a growing Sunday school and organizational meetings which now use the old parsonage.

Lewis Fellows, president of the board of trustees, will speak briefly on the building of the new parsonage.

Following the 30 minute service, the Rev. and Mrs. George P. Werner will have an informal open house and inspection of the new building. Construction of the home began just one year ago.

Fish, Game Club To Hear Latest Site Proposal

A new property offer for the proposed clubhouse of Saugerties Fish and Game Club will be presented by the clubhouse building committee at the regular meeting of the club Monday, 8 p. m. in the R. A. Snyder Fire Company rooms of Saugerties Municipal Building.

Club Secretary Vincent Berzal said the new offer is the most attractive received by the club thus far, and the possibility of a vote on the purchase of the property at Monday night's meeting is very possible.

According to information available to The Freeman today, the new site is near the 40-acre tract in Mt. Marion which the club has had under consideration since its last meeting. The owner of the 40-acre site along the Churchland Road asked $5,000.

The pheasant fund raising ticket returns should be made at this meeting according to Roy Longendyke, chairman. Following the meeting refreshments will be served and sound-color movies on hunting and fishing will be shown.

Scouters Postpone Recognition Court

The Saugerties District Boy Scouts court of recognition scheduled for Friday night at Saugerties Municipal Auditorium has been postponed and a new date will be announced.

Saugerties District officials were advised Wednesday night that the units required additional time to prepare for recognition of advancements and awards.

New Pumper Of Saxton Fire District Arrives

The new 750 gallon capacity pumper truck costing over $10,000 authorized by the residents of Saxton Fire District in February arrived in the district Wednesday, according to Paul K. Boehm, chief of Saxton Fire Company.

Chief Boehm, local fire extinguisher representative said the new pumper has a 750 gallon capacity and can pump 500 gallons per minute.

Before going into service, the pumper must be inspected by an engineer of the American La France Company, manufacturers of the unit, and must pass a three-hour Board of Fire Underwriter's test. The pumper is mounted on a GMC chassis.

The volunteer company also operates a 1939 GMC pumper with a capacity of 500 gallons, and a 1941 tank truck with a 750 gallon capacity.

One of these will be assigned to the new fire station at Asbury, now under construction on Old Kings Highway near Katsbaan Reformed Church.

council the enactment of an ordinance setting up a Traffic Violations Bureau. That ordinance was enacted and as a result the handling of traffic violations was expedited both for the offender and the police department.

"Further, during his term of office, Judge Mino established a small claims division of the court. This not only speeded up the disposition of small civil claims, but it greatly reduced the expense of litigation for the citizens because it made it unnecessary for them to hire lawyers to handle these claims.

No Fear or Favor

"On the bench, Judge Mino was an able, conscientious and impartial jurist. His decisions were rendered without fear or favor, and were never dictated politically. His conduct of that office was never criticized by either Democratic or Republican lawyers.

"Having served as special city judge for eight years and having practiced law for 20 years, I feel I am better qualified than the third party spokesman to evaluate Judge Mino's record.

"His statement that the third party endorsed Mr. Schick for district attorney "because he is the only man in Ulster County with the ability and experience necessary for this important job" is further evidence of the irresponsibility of the third party, and is an affront to the lawyers of Ulster County.

"In sum, the statements in Tuesday's Freeman have resulted only in discrediting the third party and its spokesman."

HONOLULU (AP)—A former member of the Army's 27th Infantry asked the commanding officer for reimbursement for a trip he made from Manila to San Francisco. The Army checked its records and found the claim was accurate. Sure enough, the man had been with the unit. The trip was made in 1904.

Job Scarcity Is Toughest On the Younger Generation

BY FAYE HENLE

Hardest hit by unemployment are the younger members of the labor force. This was the punch line to an analysis of the official unemployment data covering July and August.

This report pointed out that about 40 per cent of those out of work were under 25 and many were recent additions to the labor force, school and college graduates ineligible for unemployment benefits.

Is this trend of unemployment among youth continuing? What is being done about it?

When the September-October figures are released they can be expected to show a seasonal upturn in employment. No doubt, many of the youth that swelled last summer's jobless figure have returned to school. Yet in this zig-zag economy of ours, last summer's unfortunate statistic could be repeated at some future date. This poses the problem of what to do about young men and women who either can find no work or soon after becoming employed are laid off.

These youths might be granted no opportunity for employment or they might be performing to the best of their ability, yet lose their jobs because of layoffs due to economic conditions.

Those workers with established seniority rightfully remain. Those workers, and only those workers, who have piled up a "fair amount of employment" are eligible for unemployment insurance. (The interpretation of "a fair amount of employment" varies by states.)

What about the plight of the youngster out of work? Does the economy fail to recognize his importance as a consumer? Perhaps he is planning to wed, or, newly married, faced with mortgage and installment purchase payments?

One most constructive aid has just been enacted. Beginning later this month, veterans will be able to count their years or months of service with the armed forces as time gainfully employed, should they be forced to seek unemployment benefits. . .

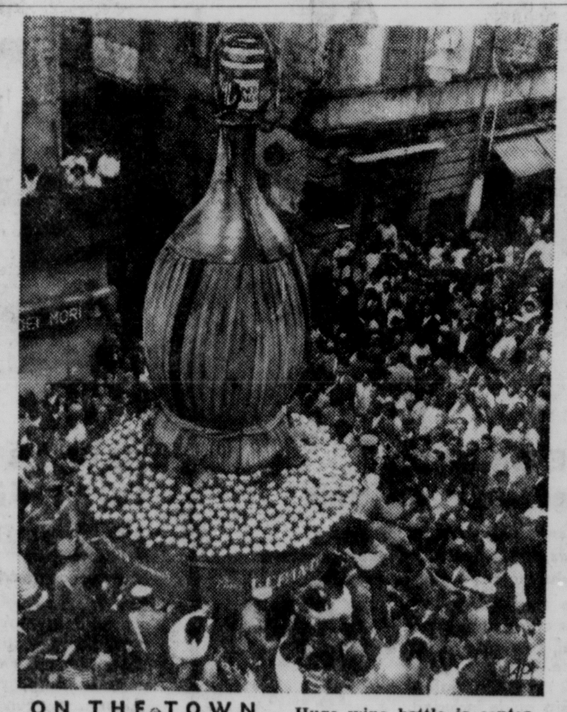

Beyond this, spokesmen for the U. S. Department of Labor counsel the young job hunter to immediately seek aid from state employment services. Here they might find a job. They should ask to see the job guide publications that in many areas of the country pinpoint employment opportunities not only in major cities but in smaller communities.

What else can youth do?

The vast majority of state employment services have job testing and counseling programs, costly to maintain, yet invaluable especially to the younger job seeker whose future wealth and happiness depends so fully not just upon finding employment but upon finding the right job.

Talent Quest Is Set for Tillson Area Nov. 19th

There will be a variety show held in the Tillson auditorium Wednesday, Nov. 19, sponsored by Rosendale-Tillson American Legion Post through Ted Mack and the Original Amateur Hour. Anyone who wishes to take part in this show may contact Peter Costa, Bloomington, or appear for rehearsal Nov. 5 and 12, at the auditorium where additional talent will be picked for the Nov. 19 show.

Teenagers and older persons are to be considered. Talent quest show winners will be given a special audition on the Ted Mack and the Original Amateur Hour Show.

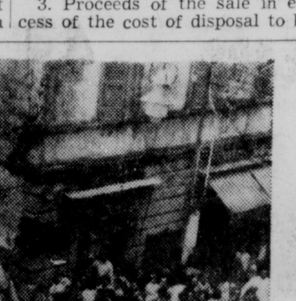

Balmville Grange Will Hold Dance Oct. 31

Young adults of Balmville Grange will sponsor an autumn sport dance at the Balmville Grange Hall Friday, Oct. 31, from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m.

Music for dancing will be furnished by records and refreshments will be available. Proceeds from the dance will be used to purchase, records for future affairs.

Church youth groups, teenagers, and all interested may attend.

Matter of FACT

Tunneling is one of the oldest types of engineering. The Egyptians, the people of India, and the Aztecs in Middle America all dug long passages into the earth for their graves and temples. The Assyrians built underground drains and tunneled under the Euphrates River. The Greeks also built tunnels, but the greatest tunnel builders in ancient historical times were the Romans.

Adoption Law Overhaul Urged

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The New York Congress of Parents and Teachers has issued a call for a thorough overhaul of the state's adoption laws which it says "have had no significant change in 20 years."

The revision was asked Wednesday in a resolution approved by over 800 delegates at the close of the group's annual three-day convention.

Mrs. Edwin G. Mulbury of Windham, state chairman of juvenile protection said needed changes included:

A single court to handle all adoption procedures; improved investigation of prospective parents; and registration of adopted children with the State Welfare Department.

She said public sentiment for a change in the adoption laws had been aroused by the death of an adopted child in Buffalo last May.

The child was Sheila Dooling, 7, who was found dead in her home of malnutrition. Her parents and foster-parents have been charged with first-degree manslaughter.

GOP Interventors

Practice Act, to compel Joseph Epstein and Seymour Werbalowsky, as commissioners of election, to place the names of the Economy Party candidates on the ballot.

ance with the statute and in a memorandum accompanying his decision noted that the relief had been sought under Article 78 of the Civil Practice Act. Nevertheless he treated it as a timely application under Section 330 of the Election Law because he would otherwise, "under cited authorities" lack jurisdiction to entertain the application. Under Section 330 he had "broad and summary jurisdiction to pass on any question of law or fact, irrespective of whether objections had been filed or whether hearings had been held before the board of elections."

Point to Faults

In a lengthy brief submitted by intervenors today, it was pointed out to the Appellate Division that the petitions filed with the board of elections on September 9, did not comply with the statute in that the petitions in the majority of cases failed to indicate the election district, city, ward or town in which signatories were registered at the last proceeding general election. This it was pointed out was "mandatory."

The petitions for county office contained 2382 signatures of which only 296 were held legal. In the town of Ulster of 346 signatures only 25 were legal. Since 1,500 signatures in the county and 120 in the town of Ulster were required, Justice Deckelman held the petitions insufficient on the face and dismissed the application to compel the board to print the names on the ballot. These facts were pointed out in the brief to the Appellate Division today on the appeal.

Held as Acceptance

On the same day the petitions were filed a routine notice was sent each candidate named in the petitions, stating that September 11 was the last day to accept or decline nominations. This notice sent out by a clerk in the routine performance of duty and in compliance with the Election Law, has been held by the petitioners as an acceptance of the petitions.

This theory is denied by the intervenors and was argued as being a "statutory and ministerial duty" of a clerk and cannot be considered an an action by the board to accept the petitions. That notice was sent out pursuant to Section 144 of the Election Law which requires such notice be given "forthwith" upon filing petitions.

On September 12 the board met and viewed the Economy Party petitions and thereafter a divided opinion arose in which Commissioner Joseph Epstein, Democratic member of the board, held the petitions valid and Commissioner Seymour Werbalowsky, Republican member held them insufficient. The candidates were notified the board could not agree and the names would not go on the ballot. Notice was also given candidates as to their rights to review the matter in the Supreme Court. Such action was instituted on September 23 and the matter heard by Justice Deckelman who held the petitions "wholly failed to meet requirements of the statute" and dismissed the petition.

Four Points Cited

Four points were stressed by the intervenors today:

1) Statutory requirements were mandatory as to data on election district, ward, city or town in which signers of an independent petition registered the last preceding election and that the petitions failed in this point.

2) The action of the clerk in sending out the notices to nominees apprising them of the last date to accept or decline, was not binding on the board of elections and was purely an established office practice.

3) Of the merits the petitions failed to contain the required number of valid signatures.

4) Petitioners were not entitled to any relief irrespective of whether this proceeding be deemed to have been taken under Article 78 or under Section 330 of the Election Law.

On the question of omission of the information, Haver reading from his "brief" told the court:

"It is worth to note that it is not necessary for the individual signers of the petition to personally supply or insert the required data as to residence, place of prior registry, etc., because the statute itself (Election Law, Section 138, Sub. 1) expressly provides, so far as pertinent:

"'A signer need not himself fill in the date, residence or residences, ward, election district, town or city or assembly district.'"

Attorneys Blamed

"In short, all the requisite data which was omitted from the instant petitions could have been supplied by those who solicited the signatures, or by the attorneys representing the Economy Party who handled the preparation of the petitions and checked them prior to filing. In short, the omission is chargeable not to the signers, but solely to the dereliction of the Economy Party's attorneys and their signature solicitors. The ommissions here were most flagrant and it is difficult to understand how any attorney, however inexperienced, could permit the filing of such defective petitions as the instant ones. The most superficial check of the instant petitions against the statute would have indicated to the most neophyte member of the legal profession that there was omitted from the petitions practically all the data called for by law."

Present Counsel Absolved

"Lest we be misunderstood, we hasten to absolve the present attorneys who are representing the petitioners on this appeal (and who also did at special term). They, we concede, had no part in the preparation of the petitions or checking them prior to filing. That legal task was in the hands of another attorney who is one of the candidates of the Economy Party. But regardless of where the responsibility for the defects lies, the instant petitions are fatally and hopelessly defective."

Haver asked that the proceeding be dismissed both on the grounds the petitioners resorted to the wrong remedy and that on the merits the petition was insufficient.

IBM Computer Is Used on Project Of Space Research

MOFFETT FIELD, Calif—Ames Research Center here has installed a powerful electronic computer that will be used to advance the nation's non-military program of space research and exploration, it was announced today.

The new computer, called the 704, is manufactured by International Business Machines Corp. It is similar to the one used to keep track of the moon-probe rocket which traveled over 79,000 miles into space following its successful launching by the Air Force at Cape Canaveral, Fla., October 11.

The research center, located 40 miles south of San Francisco, is one of three National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The new space agency is responsible for the current series of moon-probe firings. It was created last July by Congress to coordinate civilian space flight projects and related aeronautical research.

One of the first tasks facing the computer is to assist Ames scientists in the search for improved methods of calculating the precise paths of satellites successfully launched into orbit.

The computer has opened new areas of research at Ames previously considered impractical, according to Dr. William A. Mersman, chief of the center's electronic machine computing branch.

The IBM 704 has played a prominent role in space events since its use by the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington, D. C., and the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge, Mass., to help tract Russian and American artificial satellites. Its latest assignment in the field of space technology is the tracking of the moon probe.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market went into a slow downward drift again today, marking the fourth straight day of slumping prices.

At the start trading was active and prices mixed. The ticker briefly lagged behind floor transactions. Then the downtrend set in and turnover slackened.

Major stocks were fractions to about a point lower. Special issues, responding to news, displayed gains which were reduced by early afternoon.

Steels, motors, metals, rails, utilities, electronics and oils were lower. Tobaccos displayed independent firmness. Rubber and mail order issues were mixed.

Chrysler fell more than a point and General Motors nearly a point.

Ford, marked down Wednesday on a poor third and quarter report, recorded only a small loss today.

Metal stocks were a disappointment to the bulls. Anaconda opened 1 point higher on an increase in copper price while Kennecott gained about ½.

Decision Reserved

said he was on "part-time duty" and thought the theft occurred on a Saturday, and answered that the deputy was in charge.

Figured They'd Take Care

Asked if he were advised of the progress of the investigations, Van Buren said he did not "get any written reports," and didn't know to whom they went. "I figured they would take care of the job."

Van Buren said he "came in one morning and Brophy (former Detective Clarence Brophy who recently retired from the force) was talking to a man I think was employed at the factory. I left the room."

Kelly asked if the man "would be Moe Safarty," and the former chief said he had "no recollection of Safarty."

Didn't Remember Affidavit

Van Buren said he did not remember ever having seen Safarty's affidavit. Safarty testified earlier he estimated that about 75 dresses reported stolen remained in plant. Many were returned to be done over because of faults, he said.

Van Buren studied the affidavit but told Kelly he couldn't say "yes or not whether I read it."

Kelly: "Was Deputy Chief Murphy at that time actively in charge of the department?"

Van Buren: "The deputy had the responsibility. I didn't go out on anything. The deputy told me, 'You don't feel well, so I'll make the calls."

The former chief said he and Murphy "worked together pretty much the same hours, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m."

Kelly: "Were you in the office at the time of the Prim-Rose report?

Didn't Know Until Later

Van Buren: "I wasn't in at that time. I didn't know about it until later that Saturday."

Kelly asked Van Buren who was in charge "when you were downstairs?" Haver objected that the minutes of the board were the best reference, and "the minutes will disclose that Murphy in March, 1957, was assigned to traffic and in charge of uniformed men." The minutes of the board were the best proof of assignments, Haver said.

The corporation counsel said the minutes were pertinent. "Who was in charge while you were home?" Van Buren said he went to the hospital "the Monday after Thanksgiving," and Haver objected. The period in question "is March 1957 to May 1957," he said.

Van Buren said he was "in here part-time," and when questioned on who was in charge March 22 and 23, 1957, replied: "I came in that day. The deputy and sergeant were in charge."

Kelly asked Van Buren if, when he came back full time to the department, "were you in charge of the department and did you discharge all of your previous duties."

"I didn't check traffic, fire alarms or accidents," the chief said, "and I used to make them all." He traced Murphy's promotions from his lieutenancy and said he was told by the board "under my condition to let the younger man do the work."

The chief indicated he was in charge of the department, but "wasn't informed of everything going on." Kelly asked if that included Prim-Rose.

"I wouldn't say that. I thought all the men were qualified to do the job." Van Buren said Murphy took his place on the traffic control board.

Haver: "Detective Brophy testified Tuesday, when asked where they got their orders, in part, that their first duties (detectives) on arrival in the morning was to check the blotter and anything directed to their attention."

Van Buren: "That's correct."

Haver: "Were the detectives under your direction and yours alone."

Van Buren: "I wouldn't say mine alone."

Van Buren: "Yes."

Didn't Obstruct Probe

Van Buren: "Not that I know of. He didn't obstruct it."

Haver: "Was he there (Prim-Rose) March 23?"

Van Buren: "I understand he went there."

Van Buren: "Yes."

Haver moved, at the conclusion of last night's testimony, to dismiss the misconduct charges, involving alleged neglect of duty, against Murphy in the Prim-Rose case.

The defense attorney described the charge as one of "utter and complete failure of proof," a matter "solely the duty of the detectives."

Murphy's Job: Kelly

Kelly countered that 'if ever a matter was crystal clear," it was the Prim-Rose case, and claimed "the matter at least was under the supervision of Lt. Murphy, the one to whom Safarty made a complete statement."

The affidavit pointed out the seriousness of the matter, Kelly contended, and charged that Murphy had a knowledge of the case "since its inception." He said Brophy testified "initially" he wasn't in charge, not even on duty. We have a situation of a person actively in charge of the department with a knowledge of these facts and he never did anything about it. It's almost unbelievable to have a department head with such knowledge and nothing was done."

Not in Charge: Haver

Haver contended that Murphy was not in charge.

Officer Floyd Krom, later reinstated to the department, said he refused to sign a waiver of immunity in testimony before the grand jury.

Kelly asked, if prior to his indictment, he had occasion to discuss that matter with any member of the police department. Krom said he talked with Murphy on Aug. 10, 1957.

Krom said his wife received a call from Murphy "asking me to drop down to see him. I wasn't home at the time, and the following morning called him and stopped at his home, 22 Clinton Avenue."

He said Murphy "wanted to know why I didn't sign a waiver of immunity?"

Krom said he met Murphy in the district attorney's office "in a side room." He said he was accompanied by another suspended officer.

"I don't know whether he said we wouldn't be indicted or thought we wouldn't be indicted.

Haver asked Krom who his attorney was at the time and he replied, "John Schick."

"Isn't it a fact that since you went there and signed the waiver on the advice of Murphy, you said you wouldn't have gotten back on the department if it hadn't been for his advice?"

Krom: "Yes, sir."

Haver: "When did you decline to sign the waiver?"

Krom: "I think is was July, 1957."

Haver: "On that occasion did you go to the court house?

The defense attorney then questioned Krom on his meeting Schick. "How did you happen to talk to Schick? Did Schick call you over?" Krom said he believed it was through another officer that he met Schick.

Haver: "Did you go to Schick to represent you, or did Schick come to you?"

Trial to Continue

There was some doubt indicated here on the meting with the attorney when Haver asked Krom if he were " already to go into the grand jury room and sign the waiver?"

Krom indicated he didn't know "how I felt at that particular time."

Haver asked if it could be summed up "this way. Is it your feeling that Murphy' advise was good." Krom replied that it was.

Callanan Ninth

Ellis Briggs, Inc., Kingston Hospital, Tops Cleaners, Herzog Supply and Colonial Roofing Co.

At a meeting of campaign division leaders Wednesday night, Chairman Kalish said that there remained much work to be done to complete the campaign by October 31.

In addition to the "assured pledges" of $5,474 (on which definite commitments have been received, although signed cards have not been turned in), Kalish noted that there remained at least $5,000 in unreported cards in the hands of solicitors in all divisions who are completing their call-backs and are expected to report within a week.

"We have over $113,000 in sight, Kalish said, "and with a little extra effort on the part of all of us, there is no reason why we can't make the minimum goal of $128,651."

Business and Industry Division Chairman Stewart, with his co-chairman, Robert J. Dalton and W. Henry Haltermann, reported, total pledges in his division to date of $69,649.51, with an additional $5,474 in "definite assurances."

Other division reports:

Special Gifts, William E. Rylance and G. Herbert DeKay, $10,007; commercial, C. A. Baltz Jr., and John R. Shults Jr., $7,924.82; Professional, N. Retired Couple Would Do Well to Consider Owning Food Stocks

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q—B., Pennsylvania, writes, "I have just been retired from a pretty good job at the age of 65. My wife and I are going to try living in Florida. In addition to my pension, I have $15,000 in the savings bank which I don't intend to disturb. An endowment policy which matures soon will give me funds, part of which I would like to invest in some conservative stocks with reasonable yield and at least moderate growth prospects. What would you suggest.

A—There are a number of groups that I might suggest. Electric utilities would at most times meet your requirements. The price of these stocks, however, is closely related to money rates. With the latter pointing upward, I'm not too keen about new purchases in the group just at present. I like the grocery chains for the objectives you mention and have frequently recommended in this column such stocks as Safeway Stores, Great Atlantic & Pacific, First National Stores, Kroger and I think you might do well to Winn-Dixie. At the present time consider the food packaging group. There are a number of sound stocks in this category which it seems to me would meet the requirements which you outlined. These stocks have a built-in characteristic which assures steady growth. American women like attractively packaged products and familiar brand names.

Some Sound Food Packaging Stocks

The unquestioned leader in the field of food-packaging is General Foods. This company markets a widely diversified list of products, best known of these are such widely advertised items as Maxwell House Coffee, Postum, Post cereals, Jell-O, Swans Down flour, Baker's chocolate, Minute rice and Birds Eye frozen foods. General has shown a steady rise in earnings since 1951, is strong financially, and has paid dividends without interruption since 1922. The stock yields a little over 3½ per cent. Dividends have been raised in each year since 1952. I can recommend this issue strongly to people who, like yourself, want a conservative holding with prospects for continued steady appreciation.

Corn Products Looks Undervalued

Corn Products has long been a favorite of mine and the stock looks even better as a result of the recent merger with Best Foods. The re-created company will make and distribute a wide list of grocery products including Hellman's mayonnaise, French Dressing, Skippy peanut butter, Nucoa margarine, Karo syrup, Mazola oil, Argo and Linit starches. Because it takes a little time for a merger to become operationally efficient, Corn Products seems relatively undervalued at present. The company has paid dividends since 1920 and the directors plan to initiate a $2 annual payment. On the expected new rate the stock will yield nearly 4½ per cent at recent levels. The merger puts Corn Products second only to General Foods in the packaged field.

Many Other Good Stocks In The Group

Standard Brands should not be overlooked. This company processes and distributes such well-known items as Chase & Sanborn coffee, Tender Leaf tea, Blue Bonnet margarine, Royal puddings and Fleischman's yeast. Standard Brands affords a yield of 4.6 per cent on a dividend that looks very safe. Then there are the two great soup makers, Campbell and Heinz. Both companies, of course, produce many other things besides soup. Campbell puts out V-8 vegetable juice, Swanson's frozen foods and Franco-American spaghetti and macaroni among other items.

Campbell is a strong stock. Dividends have been paid for over 50 years and should continue without interruption. On the present $1.50 rate the yield is 3.2 per cent. Heinz is another excellent food producer. There are few Americans who haven't heard of the 57 varieties, and the company is almost as well known abroad. Last year about 80 per cent of net income came from foreign business. Heinz yields 3.9 per cent on a well protected dividend. The company has not shown much growth in recent years and I regard this stock mainly as a good income producer.

All of the above are good stocks. From the standpoint of current yield and growth I favor Corn Products as a single selection. My next choice would be General Foods. A package consisting of an equal dollar amount of each of the five stocks I have reviewed would give you some diversification, an average yield of about 4 per cent and an excellent representation in a continuously developing industry.

Permission Given For Yule Wreaths In Uptown Area

Permission was given by the Board of Public Works yesterday for the hanging of Christmas decorations in uptown and downtown areas and for erection of a canopy at 234 Fair Street.

G. A. Trahan Co., Inc., of Cohoes, which in former years had decorated the city for the Christmas season was again authorized to hang streamers, wreaths and lights.

The Arthur Murray dance studio in the Burgevin building, Fair and Main Streets, was permitted to erect a canopy if local requirements are met. It must have a clearance of eight feet, not hamper use of parking meters or cause their removal, and satisfactory insurance must be held. The permit can be revoked at discretion of the board.

City Engineer Arthur F. Halinan and Mayor Edwin F. Radel were named as a committee to study the request of Harold Tubby, of Glasco, owner of a property at 253 First Avenue, to extend a city sewer line 63 feet from that address.

The board voted to pay Joseph Gruner, of Highland, contractor, $3,910.43 for work on a sanitary sewer project on VanGaasbeck Street, between Wood and Cassidy Streets, and to pay $940.50 due him for work on the lower Delaware Avenue retaining wall.

A new and larger street light was approved for an area near 108 Gage Street. A new type fixture and street light were approved for a corner at Albany and Smith Avenues, and other changes were approved for lights at West Pierpont and Hudson, Hunter and Ravine, Wurts and West Union, and a point on Brewster Street.

Thruway Defends Early Opening of Turnpike Link

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP(— The State Thruway Authority is taking emergency steps to keep pedestrians from wandering onto a section that was added to the superhighway before fences were installed.

At the same time, the authority is defending its decision setting last Saturday for the opening of the 15-mile link, the New England spur between New York City and the Connecticut Turnpike.

Col. Clinton B. F. Brill, chairman of the Thruway Authority, said the opening had been expedited in response to pleas from local officials in the spur area. He said they sought relief from traffic congestion to reduce hazards.

Brill said a labor dispute had delayed installation of permanent fencing on the new link. He declared in a statement that the authority, "on its own initiative," had fixed the opening date.

The chairman said Thruway openings were "not dictated by political considerations" and they were not scheduled by the governor.

Rider Says Story About Attorney Is Misleading One

The article in Tuesday night's Freeman relative to my recent statement was most misleading," according to W. L. Rider, county chairman of the Economy Party.

"I stated this week that John J. Schick does not now and never has represented the Economy Party.

"On August 21, 1958, in announcing my support of John J. Schick for the office of District Attorney, I stated that he had represented 'our group.' The group referred to in my August 21, 1958 statement was a group the action of the Board of Education in overriding the vote of four taxpayers who appealed the People of the City of Kingston.

"John Schick and Judge Klein did represent us in that action. This was a taxpayers' action and not an action by a political party, so you see my statements were not contradictory even though there are some who for their own reasons would seek to make you believe that they are."

Cooperative Classes Visit Specialty Shop

Cooperative retail classes of Kingston High School visited Virginia's Specialty Shop, North Front Street on one of its weekly field trips. It is the first specialty shop visited this year.

The classes noted the color scheme, lay-out, arangement, lighting and other details.

The vast selection of cards and range of choices in costume jewelry was pointed out to the classes.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Franz were very helpful and gracious in answering questions relative to the work.

Oliverea Man Is Held on Charge Of Drunk Driving

Floyd M. Bennett, 63, of Oliverea, was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated Wednesday night after his car went out of control on Route 9W and struck a rock ledge.

The car was proceeding south in West Park when it crossed the northbound lane, went off the east side of the highway and struck the ledge.

Bennett escaped injury, according to a report by Troopers James Kaljian and Joseph Moore of the Highland state police. Time of the accident was 9 p. m.

Bennett was arraigned before Justice of the Peace John Beaver of Esopus and the case adjourned until Oct. 29.

WE'RE BIG AND GETTING BIGGER—The U.S. population mark has whistled upward at a spectacular rate to pass the 175 million mark, 17 million more than were around when President Eisenhower was inaugurated in 1953, almost 170 million more than the post-colonial states boasted in 1800 when Napoleon Bonaparte was France's first consul and reaching for an emperor's crown. Thirty years later saw the first Mormon Church organized by Joseph Smith in Fayette, Seneca County, N.Y., and we then numbered over 12 million. In 1860 the Civil War clouds were gathering as South Carolina seceded from the Union which embraced over 31 million. Ellis Island opened in New York as an immigration depot in 1890, when the population was almost 63 million, to abet the great flood of foreigners which helped push the figure to over 105 million in 1920, the year the League of Nations began in Geneva, Switzerland. More than 150 million of us got the news in 1950 that Brink's, Inc., had been robbed of $2,775,395.12. And this year the counter clicked on while the Pioneer moon rocket sped up and up and up—symbolic, perhaps, of America's population of the future.

Rockefeller Hits Anew at 'Hall' Ties With Ave

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Nelson Rockefeller took over the site of the Democratic state convention Wednesday night and called it the place where "the governor of the greatest state in the nation publicly knuckled under to the boss of Tammany Hall."

Rockefeller, the Republican candidate for governor, told a rally audience of about 9,000 people in Memorial Auditorium that it was time to "wipe out the Tammany beachhead in Albany."

"Let's get rid of bunk, bossism and bankruptcy in our state government," he declared.

Rockefeller's speech ended a in the Buffalo area, including stops in plush suburbs and a Negro neighborhood, and an unannounced visit with about 50 leading businessmen and industrialists.

He resumed his meet-the-people tour today, with stops scheduled at industrial plants in North Tonawanda and Cheektowaga, lunch on the city's Polish east side and a tour of the giant Bethlehem Steel plant in Lackawanna.

In his rally speech Wednesday night, Rockefeller renewed his charge that Carmine DeSapio, New York County Democratic leader, dictated the nomination here of Frank S. Hogan as the party's candidate for U. S. Senator.

The Democrats, he said, "have been trying ever since to pretend it didn't happen; they've been trying ever since to change the subject."

Part of Plane Found

GUAM (AP) — A search ship today recovered a wing tip tank from the same type aircraft that vanished in the Pacific west of Guam Saturday with four crewmen. The plane was an AJ2 photo reconnaissance Navy craft.

The Navy said the aircraft carrier Princeton and five destroyers headed for the area where the tank was found.

Two Groups Hear Candidates at Ulster Meeting

Approximately 125 persons attended a three-hour meeting at the Lake Katrine School Wednesday night featuring the participation of the three candidates for supervisor in the town of Ulster.

The meeting was sponsored by the Halcyon Park Civic Association and the Whittier Improvement Association.

Alexander J. Banyo (R), incumbent supervisor and candidate for reelection, Norman Hammond (D) and Carmine Sabino (Economy) spoke briefly and answered audience questions concerning various problems of the two project areas, road construction, in particular.

Moderators were Irving S. Atwood for Halcyon Park and Richard A. Hulnick of Whittier.

Questions Asked

The meeting was divided into three parts. Each of the candidates first presented a brief description of his background and experience. This was followed by a question and answer period during which questions were submitted to the moderators. The questions were written on cards. The third section of the meeting consisted of 10-minute summaries by each of the candidates in which he described his general approach and platform.

Questions developed information to the effect that developers in both of the projects still have work to do before the town of Ulster accepts the roads as town responsibility.

Agree on Roads

Banyo reported that in Halcyon Park the town board and the developer had reached an agreement Oct. 14 in which the developer said he would proceed with roadwork. This work is now under way and completion is anticipated in the near future, Banyo said.

He indicated that in the Whittier development roadwork that was supposed to be completed by the developer was not yet finished and that the town supervisor and town attorney are now engaged in negotiations with a bonding company for a solution to the stalemate.

Cool Temptation

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Police say two 17-year-old boys here spent a cool afternoon with a hot ice cream wagon. The wagon was reported stolen by one of the boys who was operating it. It was found abandoned and the boys admitting eating a lot of the ice cream themselves and spending the money collected for the rest, detectives said.

Booming Death Rate?

HONOLULU (AP) — A local firm claims a new world's record for first month sales — of cemetery plots. Hawaiian Memorial Park said 1,759 sites were purchased during the period. It said the mark exceeded the old record set at Modesto, Calif., by about 300.

Nixon Pledges New U.S. Effort To Broaden CR

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Nixon pledged the Eisenhower administration today to support new efforts to broaden the strife-marked field of civil rights.

Nixon, here to campaign for the New York GOP ticket, called in a statement for the election of Rep. Kenneth Keating to the Senate. He depicted this as a step toward destroying control of Congress' machinery by anti-civil-rights Democrats.

Striking out on his own in a field where President Eisenhower has proceeded cautiously, Nixon gave this outline of the "positive aims" of the national GOP administration:

"To open the full doors of opportunity to all and to assure good schooling, job opportunities and rising standards of living for all our citizens. We do not recognize first-class citizenship and second-class citizenship.

"We do not want rights and privileges for some and only burdens and discrimination for others."

Nixon gave no indication that he had consulted Eisenhower before issuing the statement. But his action was interpreted as another sign he is taking over political leadership in last-round efforts to turn the tide that seems rolling toward increased Democratic strength in Congress.

William George Kahrs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kahrs, 21 Wilbur Avenue, is assigned to Company O of the Second Training Regiment and Conrad G. Bremer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Bremer, Glenford, has been assigned to Company F of the Second Training Regiment.

County Legion Meeting

A meeting of the Ulster County Committee of the American Legion is scheduled for Monday at 8 p. m. in the rooms of Cook-Taylor Post 111, Ellenville. Commander Edgar M. Maurer of the county organization urges a full attendance.

Jumping to Conclusions

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Detective Albert Dodd investigated a complaint that some small boys were smoking long brown objects, possibly marijuana, a caller said. He located the area where the boys were sighted and found a large grape vine with many of its dead branches broken off.

PORT EWEN NEWS

Lions Directors Meet

PORT EWEN—The Town of Esopus Lions Club directors meeting was held Monday.

The sight conservation committee reported the necessity of a vision tester for the town children. A motion was made and approved by the board for the club to purchase a vision tester to be used by schools and organization of the town of Esopus. The sum of $300 was alloted for the project.

Board also discussed safety pamphlets "Do's and Don'ts," to be distributed to town school children when received from the printer.

Membership committee month is October, new member month. Four new members names were presented to the board and approved.

Program committee reported that Edward Mains will be the guest speaker at the next meeting to be held Monday.

The boys and girls committee will sponsor a teenage dance at the town auditorium tentatively on Nov. 10. Music will be furnished by a grant from the trust fund of the recording industry obtained through the cooperation of Local 215, American Federation of Musicians.

New Paltz School Students Take Scholarship Exam

Senior students in the New Paltz Central School have been taking scholarship examinations recently administered by Alfred W. Johnstone, guidance director.

Last week 27 seniors took the New York State Regents scholarship examination. This week 19 seniors and two juniors took the scholarship qualifying test of the College Entrance Examination Board. Winners of these scholarships can qualify for scholarships from $200 to over $1,000. Last year four students from New Paltz Central School qualified for state scholarships.

Students who took the state scholarship and scholarship qualifying tests were:

Michael Sullivan, Thomas Landau, Delores Dee, Margaret Karp, Bernice Paradise, Stephen Salkeever, Lawrence Dawson, Jeannette Hogan, Kris Reed, Wendell Harp, Alice Wohltman, Sarah Lane, Birch Hayes, Sandra Smilley, Peter Phillips, Eleanor Collins, Carol Bender, Craig McKinney, Linda Pope, Elaine Anderson, Marc Reisner, Glen HasBrouck, Robert Raftery, Stuart Mount, Marlene Winnie, Joanne Hoffman.

Ask Americans for Articles From Gum to Records

Fear of Midnight Knock Gone Now In Russia, but Memory Lingers On

By ROY ESSOYAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

The clammy fear of the midnight knock on the door is gone from the Soviet Union, but the memory lingers.

A few years ago the average Russian wouldn't dare talk to an American on the street. Today an American can't step out of Moscow's Metropol Hotel without being besieged by Russians asking for everything from chewing gum to Glenn Miller records.

A block or two farther away the more serious ones fall into step. They'll ask you for American magazines or shirts.

In the last several months some have even started offering to buy American dollars. Even under relaxed Soviet laws they are risking Siberia. Or—you never know—they may be just testing you out.

Fear Change Again

Many of the people who approach you just want to talk to a real, live American. They might even join you for lunch. Few will go beyond that.

Despite the Kremlin's protestations of peaceful coexistence and freedom for all, the people still have some of the feeling of the days when association with a foreigner was a crime.

"I think it's perfectly all right for us to meet now," one Russian told me, "but you never know. Things may change again."

"You never know," seems to be the present state of mind in Russia.

A few Russians visited our Moscow apartment. Some wanted to so badly they didn't care about the militiaman Soviet policeman who guarded our door and checked out visitors 24 hours a day. You never knew if they were bold, or had reason not to worry.

Shaved Her Head

All of them wanted to read magazines, listen to records and talk—about life in the United States, art, music and similar topics.

Earlier this year Komsomolskaya Pravda, guardian of youthful Soviet morals, denounced some young Russians for such associations. I saw one of them a few months later. Her head had been shaved, she had been kicked out of the Komsomols, the party youth organization, and was having trouble finding a job.

The charge: aping Americans, immoral behavior and giving out information.

Association with Americans, which the Kremlin has officially favored since Stalin's death, sometimes produces reverse results.

John Baker, a young American Embassy official, was declared persona non grata and expelled from the Soviet Union a few months after he started attending classes at Moscow University, and making friends.

That was called behavior unbecoming a diplomat. There was no other charge.

Amazingly Frank

Some of the ordinary people talk with amazing frankness. They love their anecdotes, that amazing Russian safety valve that lets off steam with every turn of the party line.

One of the anecdotes describes the Communist type catechism Soviet children go through on entering the Pioneers, the kiddies' party organization.

"Who is your mother?" the boys are asked.

"The Communist party, for it takes care of all our needs," they answer ritually.

"And who is your father?"

"Nikita Sergeievich Khrushchev."

"And what do you want to be when you grow up?"

One aspires to be a factory manager, another a scientist, the third a football star.

Comes the turn of little Ivan. He too says the party is his mother and Khryshchev his father.

And what does he want to be?

"An orphan," he replies.

Not All the Way Down

The Kremlin is launched on a tightrope. When Khrushchev denounced Stalin 2½ years ago, he said, in effect: Let a little freedom grow.

A little freedom has a way of burgeoning.

In the last two years the little freedoms that the Russians won have been burgeoning only to be batted down again. So far they haven't been batted down to the level of Stalin's day.

But the Communist party is still in complete and unchallenged control, and it's not likely to do anything that would jeopardize this control.

Bob Hope Admits Political Satire Rough at Times

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer

This question arose again this week when ole Ski Nose told political jokes at a lunch for President Eisenhower during his political visit here. There was much laughter over Bob's pointed barbs. Many observers feel he is the only comic who can get away with it any more.

See Age Past

These lamenters feel that the age of political satire is past, that there are too many sacred cows now. You often hear the claim: Will Rogers couldn't conduct his spoofing of politicos if he were alive today.

"Nonsense," says Hope. "I see no reason why Rogers couldn't be doing his act today. Once you build up certain trade-marks, you can get away with more than the newcomers can. People expect me to kid politics; they'd be disappointed if I didn't."

But he admitted that political satire is increasingly hazardous.

"I guess it wouldn't be wise for me to play Little Rock right now," he sighed during a lunch break of "Alias Jesse James." "I've been getting mail from Arkansas calling me all kinds of names."

The reason was the Hope-ism: "President Eisenhower wanted to send the first man into space, but he couldn't get Gov. Faubus to make the trip."

Recalls McCarthy Quip

Hope recalled the time when he threw some quips in the direction of Sen. Joseph McCarthy. The comedian drew a letter from a Wisconsin judge accusing him of being a Communist. Confirmed capitalist Hope set him straight in a return letter.

Unlike Rogers, who was an avowed partisan ("I don't belong to an organized party—I'm a Democrat)", Hope has steered clear of active politicking. "I don't think it's fair to your sponsor," he explained.

AMERICAN MENU

Almond Rice Cream Teams Up With New Topping Mix

CREAMY is the only word to describe this almond and rice dessert. It utilizes a new and easily prepared topping mix.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX,
NEA Food and Markets Editor

In a few days there will be a new dessert topping mix on the market. It is easy to prepare, inexpensive and relatively low in calories. You can use it either as a topping or as an ingredient in Bavarian pies, puddings and frozen desserts.

One package will make 2 cups of topping. It will sell for between 23 and 27 cents at your local market. The manufacturer says it is a dream. Well, let's wake up and see for ourselves.

Almond Rice Cream
(Makes about 4 servings)

Two-thirds cup packaged precooked rice, 1½ cups milk, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 tablespoons sherry, if desired; ¼ cup toasted slivered or chopped blanched almonds, 1 cup prepared dessert topping mix.

Combine precooked rice, milk, sugar and salt in large saucepan. Mix just to moisten all rice. Bring to a boil, and continue boiling gently, uncovered, 15 minutes (until milk is just absorbed), fluffing rice occasionally with fork. Remove from heat. Cool about 1 hour. Just before serving, whip dessert topping mix and fold into rice mixture. Garnish with additional almonds, if desired.

Quick Method: About 1 hour before serving, cook rice as directed above. Cool 10 to 15 minutes and add vanilla and almonds. Then spoon mixture into refrigerator freezer tray and chill in freezing unit for 15 to 20 minutes. Whip dessert topping mix. Stir rice mixture, fold in dessert topping, and serve at once. Or store in refrigerator until ready to serve.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Chilled clam juice, fried filet of sole, tartar sauce, whipped potatoes, broiled tomato halves, green beans, enriched bread, butter or margarine, almond rice cream, coffee, tea, milk.

ropean and other allies have feared the Nationalists would launch a military attempt to recapture the mainland which would drag the United States into war with Red China and possibly lead to World War III.

The communique reaffirmed U.S. recognition of the Nationalist government as "the authentic spokesman for free China and the hopes and aspirations entertained by the great mass of the Chinese people."

In an apparent reference to earlier U.S. desires for withdrawal of part of the 100,000-man garrison on Quemoy, the communique said after the Communists ceased firing, it had been hoped the talks could give primary consideration "to measures which could have contributed to stabilizing an actual situation of nonmilitancy."

With resumption of the Red bombardment, Nationalist sources said, Dulles did not raise the question of troop withdrawals.

Bombing Goes On

Meanwhile, the Communist bombardment of the Quemoys continued with 8,965 shells in the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. today, the Nationalist Defense Ministry said. It added that the island's defenders hit back.

The Nationalists claimed destruction Wednesday of 15 Red guns, 12 emplacements and an observation post plus hitting a motor pool and setting 48 trucks afire.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, visiting U.S. Army chief of staff, said the offshore islands cannot be conquered by Red shelling alone and any invasion attempt "would result in defeat for the Chinese Communists." The islands can be resupplied even under fire, Taylor added.

Police Probing Fire in Building Of Big Occupancy

A fire of suspected incendiary origin in a three-story Clinton Avenue building housing 11 apartments was under police probe today.

The blaze caused no serious damage, but smoke, which led to its discovery at 1:57 a. m., routed all occupants.

Fire Chief James M. Brett said that Deputy Chief George D. Matthews, who first observed conditions, believed the fire to be of incendiary origin. He found that the blaze had burned a pasteboard carton and part of a mop, which apparently had not been in use for some time. They were on a small, wooden platform leading to the cellar from the first floor.

Owned by Chambers

The brick and concrete structure which houses the Kay-May Shop and The Men's Shop on the ground floor front, and five apartments at the rear of that floor, has four apartments on the second floor, and two on the third. It is owned by A. H. Chambers.

Firemen said Thomas Imperial, who operates The Men's Shop, and lives in the building, reported passing the area where the fire was discovered, but noticed nothing unusual. He came in at about 12:30 a. m., he said. Smoke was first noticed by an occupant of an upper floor, somewhat over an hour later.

Units from Wiltwyck Station and the Wicks Company answered the fire call. The fire, believed to have burned about 15 minutes was checked with an extinguisher.

Detectives Checking

Acting Police Chief Francis J. Fagan said detectives were due to investigate through the day. Officers Edward Leonard, Gurnsey Burger Jr., Harold DeGraff and George Deyo were dispatched to the area soon after the fire was reported.

Firemen were called at 6:15 p. m., yesterday to 11 Wurts Street where a gas leak was reported, and another call early last night was to Elmendorf Street and Wiltwyck Avenue where gasoline was washed away after a two-car accident. One car was owned and operated by Charles Bishop, 20, of 203 Elmendorf Street, and the other, owned by Marie Brandov, of 26 Van Buren Street, was driven by Joan Dunn, 20, of 4 Tietjen Avenue. Both cars were damaged but no injuries were reported.

HOW THE SENATE RACES SHAPE UP ACROSS THE NATION

YEAR OF THE DEMOCRATS?—According to samplings of political prognostications by numerous observers, the Democrats, already holding a 49-47 edge in the Senate, stand a good chance of retaining most of their seats and picking up some from the hard-pressed Republicans. Pre-election news from state after state is gloomy for the GOP. Newsmap above plots the outlook for the November senatorial elections in 33 states across the country. In Alaska and West Virginia, two senators will be voted to office; in all others, one.

THE SENATE SEAT SEESAW SINCE 1936

THE SENATE TO DATE—Newschart above traces the party make-up of the U.S. Senate since 1936, the year when the Roosevelt landslide gave the Democrats a peak of 75 seats. The GOP slowly overtook the Dems until they registered a majority in 1946. Since that time, the Senate has been fairly evenly balanced between the two. In those years which do not add up to 96 members, the difference is accounted for by representatives from other parties.

Elect Kerhonkson Man President Of Farm Bureau

Philip Davis of Kerhonkson was elected president of the Ulster County Farm Bureau at a meeting Wednesday night at the New Hurley Church attended by some 175 persons.

Other officers:

Roderick Dressel, New Paltz, vice-president; Mrs. Gerald DeWitt of Accord, chairman of the women's committee, and John Pizzo of Milton, Donald Schoonmaker of Accord, Spencer Schoonmaker of Gardiner and Alfred Zimmerman of Clintondale, directors.

The slate was presented by Roy Denniston of Gardiner as chairman of the nominating committee. The slate was unanimously approved.

Eleven resolutions were presented and approved. They will be presented to the State Farm Bureau.

Herbert W. Voorhees, president of New Jersey Farm Bureau, guest speaker, told those assembled that "forces are at work in agriculture today which are proving unsettling to farmers who risk capital investment, work seven days a week, buy government bonds out of loyalty and reap a cost-price squeeze and a shrinking share of the consumer's dollar for their reward."

Voorhees, a director of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said farmers would have to strengthen their existing organizations "in order to take a bigger hand in shaping the future of agriculture."

Matter of FACT

The widespread use of aluminum has been made possible by the development of a process for making it cheaply and in large quantities. The process was discovered almost simultaneously by two men working independently of each other. On Feb. 23, 1886, Charles M. Hall, a 22-year-old American chemist, produced his first globules of aluminum. Eight weeks later, Paul L. T. Heroult applied to the French government for a patent on the very same process.

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — City Councilman C. M. Cornell heard complaints about holes in the streets. He discovered one — an open manhole into which the front wheel of his car dropped. What next? He said he replaced the cover.

Only Southern Capitol Not Captured

The only Southern capitol not captured by Federal troops during the War Between the States was Florida's, located at Tallahassee. Confederate troops repulsed numerous attempts by Union forces to penetrate this section of the state.

Brown is very proud of his young son. He was talking to a visitor about the wonderful intellectual development and future possibilities of the little fellow.

Brown—Not two years old yet, and he knows all the animals by proper scientific classification. He's going to be a great naturalist. Here, let me show you.

He took a book of natural history from the bookshelf, placed Bobby on his knee, opened the book, and showed him a picture of a giraffe.

Brown—What is that, Bobby?

Bobby—Horsey.

Next a tiger was exhibited, and Bobby said, "Pussy." Then a picture of a lion was shown, and Bobby said, 'Doggy.'

And when a full-page picture of a chimpanzee was displayed, Bobby exclaimed enthusiastically,

Bobby—Daddy!

When Champ Clark was Speaker of the House, Congressman Johnson of Indiana interrupted the speech of Ohio representative, calling him a jackass. The expression was ruled to be unparliamentary and Johnson apologized.

Johnson—I withdraw the unfortunate word, Mr. Speaker, but I rule that the gentleman from Ohio is out of order.

Speaker of the House Clark—How am I out of order? (angrily)

Johnson—Probably a veterinary could tell you.

And this was allowed to enter the record.

Principal—Your son will probably go down in history—

Principal—But then, of course, he might do better in geography, and the other subjects.

Employer's Tax Forms Kit Ready For Distribution

James A. O'Hara, district director of Internal Revenue for the Albany District, today announced that the Internal Revenue Service is issuing an employer's tax information forms package as Publication No. 393 which has been designed to give to employers supplies of several forms needed to comply with the laws relating to income tax withholding and old age and survivor's insurance (social security) taxes.

O'Hara urged employers to note several important changes, principally that Form W-3, Reconciliation of Income Tax Withheld from Wages, is included in Publication No. 393 as part of the cover and is now white. Prior to 1957 Form W-3 was blue. It is being furnished at this time for filing with copies A of Form W-2 for year 1958. Form W-3 (white) and copies A of Form W-2 should accompany Form 941 for fourth quarter 1958, due on or before January 31, 1959.

Employers who file Form 941, Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Return, will receive Publication No. 393 within the next 10 days. It should be used according to instructions furnished in the package. The director said that any questions should be referred to the local district office.

Lost Comrade

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi American Legion members used to address each other as "Comrade" but by recently passed resolution they now are supposed to use "Legionnaire" as the salutation.

Think It Through

LET US HAVE FAITH

It is now 26 years since F.D.R., then a candidate for the Presidency, said: "Our industrial plant is built * * *. A mere builder of more industrial plants * * * is as likely to be a danger as a help."

MR. HUTTON

This statement has probably never been equalled in foolishness by any person of national importance. We then had, he said, "a finished industrial system." This attitude was adopted by his Brain Trusters as an excuse "to make America over." It no doubt helped prolong the depression and to keep 8 to 10 million men out of work for seven long years — until the coming of war in 1940.

If our industrial plant in 1932 had stayed "built," what would be the number of unemployed today? How many homes would still be without electricity, telephones, radios, TV sets, washing machines, etc.? What would the wage of industrial workers be today? What would the workers in the building trades have done?

Time marches on. The prestige car of 1932, the Packard, will be seen no more. In the fiercely competitive automobile industry, many cars have been born and died since Mr. Roosevelt said that "our industrial plant is built."

Only 16 nameplates are now left in the American automobile industry out of 2,700 since the first car was hooted by bystanders, who also thought our system was built.

Neighbor, let us have faith in America.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The business news today still leans strongly to the good side despite some sad nine-months earnings reports.

Official statistics are reassuring. Output is rising in some of the basic industries. Prices are firm or rising on industrial materials.

The total of unemployment is shrinking a bit now—and a further drop is expected to be announced as November starts.

Confidence Reassuring

Most reassuring is the return of confidence to business leaders and to consumers.

Even many of those corporate executives announcing shrinking earnings so far this year are predicting that the final three months should show a nice reversal.

But there's still no sign yet of any runaway boom. Only in the stock market is there enthusiastic counting of chickens before they've hatched.

In industrial circles there's more caution due to the belief that the surprising rebound of the economy during July and August probably slowed down a bit in September and October.

A chief worry is what any further rise in interest rates and tightening of the money supply might do to the recovery.

Bond Market Shaken

The bond market is already badly shaken and looking hard for buyers. More big corporate issues are reported on the way. Local governments still have borrowing needs unsatisfied.

The U.S. Treasury is coming into the money market the first half of next month to raise another three billion dollars of new money to meet its needs for cash. It may have to eschew bonds and look to the banks for short-term funds.

Speculation on the probability of a further rise in interest rates is growing.

Industry News Good

But in industry itself the news is mostly good.

Output of steel, aluminum and copper has increased. So have their prices, along with lead and zinc.

Durable goods manufacturers are believed to have reduced their inventories of industrial materials down to a level consistent with new orders, which have been reported increasing.

The oil industry, suffering from a surplus of gasoline stocks, expects the demand for fuel oil and diesel oil to offset this.

Communist China's Big Purge Is Remolding Human Minds

Most Dramatic Single Enterprise in Moa Land

By JOHN STROHM

Copyright © 1958, NEA Service, Inc. All rights reserved, including reproduction in whole or part.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — I had been chatting informally with a Red Chinese government official for some time when he leaned forward and asked:

"What did you hear about China before you came here?"

I decided frankness was the best policy. So I replied:

"Some good—but mostly bad."

"I realize your monopoly press slanders our country," he said quickly.

"Well," I countered, "what about all of those people you shot? Isn't that true?"

"They deserved to be punished," he retorted. "They would not cooperate with the land reform and it was impossible to liberate our potential productive capacity without land reform."

So there it was, a flat confirmation of one of the big questions about the Red republic, and uttered with calm assurance that no reasonable person could be shocked.

The British, who recognize Peiping and admittedly have more precise sources than most Western nations, estimate that Mao Tse-tung's regime actually shot 800,000 to one and a half million Chinese during the "land reform."

The American figure is five to 10 million, but it may include some sentenced to prison or "rehabilitation."

All of these souls are gone without a trace, but a new kind of purge is evident everywhere. It is the purge of ideas.

"What we aim at is to wipe out all harmful ideas opposed to socialist construction — but not the people who harbor those ideas," a party official told me.

"And what happens to them?"

Must Purify Themselves

This "remolding" is perhaps the most dramatic single enterprise in Red China. Hundreds of thousands—some say even millions — of government officials, writers, artists and businessmen have been sent out to farms or construction projects to work the "conservative" ideas out of their systems. Or as the Party puts it "to purify themselves for communism."

Three cabinet ministers, top authors and movie stars are among the intellectual elite put out to redeem themselves.

These are the ones who spoke up when Mao published a report in 1956 entitled: "Let flowers of all kinds blossom, diverse schools of thought contend."

Their sin was in criticizing the Party. The current doctrine puts it this way: the decision has been made that the Communist Party knows what's best for the people of China. So anything in China is subject for criticism except the Communist Party.

One who, as I, has just come from an extensive tour of Russia is at once impressed by the speed of Mao's campaign to communalize life. The Chinese are hurtling toward pure communism at a pace that makes Russia look like it's standing still. They are intoxicated with the thrill of running their own show—they're no Russian stooges.

The Russians, with their interpreters tagging along, are as "foreign" here as the British or this correspondent. In Peiping 30,000 Russian technicians live in their own compound—outside the old Walled City. They even have their own bus system.

I heard more Marx quoted in Red China than on any trip to Russia, heard more denunciation of Yugoslavia's Tito.

"You're heading for communism faster than Russia," I observed to a government official.

Russian Machinery

In most factories I saw Russian machinery. In every hotel I ate in the same dining room with Soviet technicians. However, I saw no more evidence that Russia is running China than that American technical assistance people are running Nehru's India.

I spent a month traveling in Russia before spending a like time in Red China. There is a significant contrast. Russia seems to be backing off from pure communism, using profit and incentive of private ownership to get more production, especially in agriculture.

This is "capitalistic deviation" in China, where there is a whirlwind campaign to organize communal groups of about 2,000 families each, where all farming, trading, industry, schooling and militia are consolidated.

I was told that the communes are run by committees elected by "representatives of the people." These "representatives" themselves are elected by the residents of the commune who have "proved themselves worthy" to vote.

Farmers are paid like factory workers. Canteens feed them three times a day so housewives can be "emancipated" from their grinding stones and rice pots to work with rake or lathe.

If the farmer rips his pants he gets them mended in a communal tailor shop. Laundry is done the same way. The kids are parked in state kindergartens, sometimes for the day, sometimes all week.

Some of the communes are experimenting with a system whereby the farmer and his wife work apart all week and only live together weekends. Russia tried some of these stunts early in the revolution but the Chinese seem bent on starting communism at "A" despite anything that may be said about learning from Russian errors.

The Real Test

The real test may come when the Chinese peasant who was first given the land after his landlord was shot, then asked to give it up, next is asked to part with the family pig which usually is tied outside his front door. The Chinese farmer and his pork are not lightly parted.

I went through China's largest hog packing plant in Hankow, designed and built by Russians. I was told the Chinese are killing 8,000 hogs daily and sending 40 per cent of the frozen meat to Russia in payment, although pork is the most coveted luxury in China and the ration is 40 cents worth of pork per family per week.

Russia has agreed to finance and build 210 major projects in the first Chinese Five-Year Plan and 45 in the second—for a fee, of course. Many times I looked at the name-plate on a machine tool to see the country of origin. Factory officials would speak up: "Russian—but we can now make these machines in China."

The Chinese have built 139 different types of tractors in the past five months and some of those that I examined looked efficient, although there were also a conglomeration of steam, electric and wood-burning jobs.

A wood-burning plant in Nanking is turning out automobiles in which everything is wood except the wheels, motor and a belt to drive the rear axle. (There is not one privately owned car in all China.) Steel is in short supply but increasing due to new large mills and thousands of backyard furnaces on farms and schools.

"Foreigners convinced us we could not be manufacturers," said a tractor factory manager in Tientsin. "Now we're showing them and I hope you tell Americans your government's embargo on China has not worked."

The announced industrial target is: "Catch up with Britain."

Actually if China does catch up with Britain, because of its greater size the Chinese will have only 10 per cent of the living standard of the British.

To the traveler returned to China after two decades, the changes one sees cannot help but impress. The old China was a dirty place, with open sewers, flies on the meat and the same village pond water used for washing and cooking.

In the new China they are putting the sewers underground and city streets are constantly being washed and swept. Policemen and schoolgirls carry fly swatters and the common fly is practically public enemy No. 1.

I heard of one Catholic Mass that was dismissed so the congregation could go on a sparrow hunt because sparrows" eat 11 million tons of grain annually." Drinking fountains feature "boiled water."

Honor System

In the old China petty thievery was common. In 1958, I did not bother to lock my hotel room door. A hotel employe made a dash to the railroad station to return a dime notebook I had left. The honor system is being introduced for distributing stamps, candy, cigarets, and other goods.

"Cumshaw" was a way of Chinese life; today tips are an insult.

Alcoholism is unknown.

Gone, too, are forced marriage of the young, selling of children by poor peasants and prostitution. Homes have been set up in Shanghai to re-educate "the girls" to what is gravely described as "a more useful profession."

Two Swiss businessmen made passes at girls in Shanghai a few months ago and they are still in jail!

AT INDUSTRIAL SHOW in Peiping, 139 tractor models were on display, all built in the last five months — including this steam job.

IN HOG-PACKING PLANT at Hankow, butchered pigs move down conveyer line. Russia gets 40 per cent of the pork.

Matter of FACT

At the age of 16, Cornelius Vanderbilt borrowed $100 from his mother and bought a sailing boat. He used it as a ferryboat between Staten Island, his birthplace, and New York City. With that as a start, he amassed a fortune of 100 million dollars. He made 200 millions in his line of steamboats, from which came his title of "commodore," and in 12 years 80 millions in railroads.

RussianPoetGiven Nobel Peace Prize

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Boris Pasternak, the Russian poet and author of the anti-Communist novel "Doctor Zhivago," today was awarded the 1958 Nobel Prize in Literature.

The award was the most dramatic in years. The 68-year-old author still lives just outside Moscow. The Soviet government has not permitted publication in Russia of his monumental novel about what communism has done to freedom and tried to prevent its publication abroad.

The award, worth $41,420, was certain to be interpreted by many as a slap in the face for the Soviet government. There was speculation that the Soviet authorities would not allow Pasternak to receive his prize, or would take reprisals against him.

Known as the greatest living poet writing in the Russian language, Pasternak despaired of publishing creative writing of his own under Stalin and for years devoted himself to translations of such foreign classics as Goethe and Shakespeare.

Catskill Man Uninjured

Charles McNeany of Catskill escaped injury Wednesday night when his car went out of control on the old King's Highway (County Road No. 41) just south of Route 212, plunged into a ditch and turned over. Trooper Richard Ryan of the Kingston state police reported that McNeany was proceeding south at the time of the mishap.

Immunization Clinic

A clinic for immunization against whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus and smallpox will be conducted at Ulster County Health Department, 15 Main Street, Saturday, from 9 to 11 a. m. Immunizations for whooping cough, diphtheria and tetanus should be started at three months of age; and smallpox vaccination be given some time during the first year of life. These clinics serve those who are referred by their physician or those who are otherwise unable to secure these immunizations.

The Kingdom of Jordan has a population of about 400,000 living on about 5 per cent of the nation's total geographical area.

IN THE Service

Recently Promoted

CHARLES E. HERZOG, son of Mrs. Fred W. Herzog, Flatbush Road, Kingston, was recently promoted to PFC. He graduated from Kingston High School in 1957 prior to his enlistment in the U. S. Army. He took his basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., and is now with the 66th (Patton) Armor Division at Fort Campbell, Ky.

Completes Basic OCS

Second Lt. Donald J. Balfe, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Balfe, 155 Smith Avenue, recently completed the 10-week officer basic course under the Reserve Forces Act program at the Army Armor School, Fort Knox, Ky. Lt. Balfe received instruction in the duties and responsibilities of an armor unit leader. A member of Lambda Chi Alpha and Alpha Kappa Psi fraternities, the 22-year-old officer was graduated from Kingston High School in 1954 and Norwich University, Northfield, Vt., in 1958.

Gaddis in Arkansas

Pvt. John Gaddis of 154 Foxhall Avenue, who recently spent two weeks at his home, has arrived by airplane at Fort Jay Cee, Arkansas, where he will train for eight weeks in Officer's Candidate School. Pvt. Gaddis, who received his basic training at Fort Dix, N. J., was graduated from Kingston High School in 1954 and before entering service was employed by the New York Telephone Co.

Two Newborn Stabbed

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—A wife gave birth to twin boys at home today and they were found stabbed, one fatally.

Police questioned the mother, Mrs. Gertrude Pearson, 33, at Memorial Hospital.

They held her husband, William, 43, and her mother, Mrs. Gladys O. Noyes, as material witnesses.

Mrs. Pearson told police she and her mother were alone in the house.

A doctor who arrived after the early morning births said he found Mrs. Pearson in a bathroom and one boy, just born, with 13 puncture wounds over his body. He was alive, however.

TOWN OF ULSTER

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR SUPERVISOR

NORMAN C. HAMMOND

Let's Look at the Record:

In a letter dated September 3rd, 1958 the Republican Supervisor stated in referring to his appointment as Supervisor that "there was an urgency of prompt action in Town duties only moments after the appointment."

Why did he feel a sense of "URGENCY?" After all:

—Years of lax and indifferent administration have caused innumerable problems which have finally gotten the best of Town officials.

—Disorganization and disunity on the Republican Board have prevented the orderly business of the Town Board from being transacted.

—The leadership of the Republican Party has no record of attendance at Town Board meetings or of interest in Town affairs.

The Republican Party has never felt a "sense of urgency" in Town affairs before this time. Why all the fuss this year? What's Wrong?

Dutchess County Philharmonic Will Open 25th Anniversary Season on November 5

The Dutchess County Philharmonic Society, directed by Ole Windingstad, is opening its 25th anniversary season with a concert Wednesday, Nov. 5, 8:30 p. m. at Poughkeepsie High School. The orchestra will play "Concert Overture" by George Morgan, one of the modern composers, Paul Dukas' "Sorcerer's Apprentice," and Beethoven's "Eroica Symphony."

The guest artists for the first concert are Sigur Rascher and his 12 year old daughter, Karin, saxophonists. Mr. Rascher, "Paganini of the Saxophone," has been demonstrating the possibilities of this instrument as a concert instrument to both composers and audiences since 1930. Most of the great solos for saxaphone have been dedicated to him, including compositions by Ibert, Glazounoff, Larsson, Brandt, and many others. He has appeared with all major orchestras in the world, and only vary recently with the Cleveland Orchestra. Mr. Rascher has been on a recent six-week's tour of Europe and has been invited to tour Australia this fall for several weeks. This is his second appearance with the Dutchess Philharmonic and he will play "Concertino d'a Camera" by Jacques Ibert.

Karin Rascher has almost learned to play the Four octaves on the saxophone which her father has been able to do for many years. Actually he is the only man in the world who can do this. Karin plays the small soprano saxophone, practices two hours every day, and helps around the Rascher farm in Shushan, near the Vermont border Karin and her father will play "Trio Sonato" by Quantz.

Following the concert, a reception will be held in the school cafeteria, giving the audience the opportunity to meet the artists, conductor, and members of the orchestra.

Octet on American Tour Scheduled to Appear at Vassar

The Vienna Octet will present a concert at Vassar College on Wednesday, Nov. 5, at 8:30 p. m. in Students' Building. The program will comprise a "Divertimento in D Major" by Mozart and Schubert's "Octet in F Major, Opus 166."

This organization, which is making its second American tour, is composed of the first desk men of the Vienna Philharmonic, including the first concert master himself, Willie Boskovsky. The members of the Octet have developed it into one of the most important ensembles in the world. Because of their unanimity of style, tone quality and purpose they are quite unique for so large an ensemble.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Mothers' Club

Regular monthly meeting of the Mothers' Club of St. Peter's School will be held November 6 at 8 p. m. in the school hall. Members are requested to wear Halloween Costumes.

Rugs and Their Care

Family reunion dinners, traditional features of American holidays, often result in food stains on rugs and carpets, especially when small children are seated at the table. How many times have you silently groaned when some mashed potatoes fall to the floor, the coffee spills, junior topples over his milk. Oh, the poor rug! (Oh, the poor mother!!)

Well, there are two simple home formulas which are enough to prevent almost all such stains if used in time.

First: a teaspoon of neutral soapless detergent mixed with ½ pint of lukewarm water;

Second: a teaspoon of white vinegar mixed with three teaspoons of lukewarm water.

The remedies should be applied to the stain with an eye dropper and sponged from the outer edge toward the center with white unstarched cloths and then blotted. Leave the formulas on the stains for about 15 minutes before blotting.

One important factor the housewife should remember if she wants to clean rugs herself, is not to saturate them with so much water that it seeps through to the backing. The result is usually mildew or delayed-action brown stains caused by wicking action of the pile which carries discoloration from the rug backing to the surface. If you use the services of a professional on-location cleaner, you'll notice that water is applied very carefully and that no moisture ever reaches the backing.

Winter Wear

Winter, with its snow and slush, is the hardest time of the year for rugs and carpets, according to textile experts of the National Institute of Rug Cleaning.

In addition to ordinary soiling caused by "tracking in" of mud and dirt, rugs can be badly damaged by the moisture of melting snow and ice if the water is allowed to penetrate to the backing. The result is often a brown or yellowish stain caused by wicking action. (Carries impurities to the surface and leaves them as indelible discoloration when the moisture evaporates.)

The remedy is to blot up moisture as soon as possible and then to leave weighted-down clean cloths or paper tissues over the spot until evaporation is complete.

Another remedy is to use scatter rugs at all entrances during the winter months plus frequent use of the vacuum cleaner to remove foreign substances brought in by foot traffic.

Easy Rule for Care

Three simple cleaning rules which will add years to the life of rugs and keep them looking their best are recommended. The method will save the housewife hours of back-breaking toil and spare her the ruinous accidents which sometimes follow misdirected efforts at do-it-yourself cleaning. The three rules are:

1. Daily cleaning with a carpet sweeper for light pickups and for fluffing of matted pile;
2. Careful vacuuming once or twice a week, depending on traffic and soiling conditions;
3. Thorough professional cleaning at least once a year to remove deep soiling.

Cleaning Ink Stains

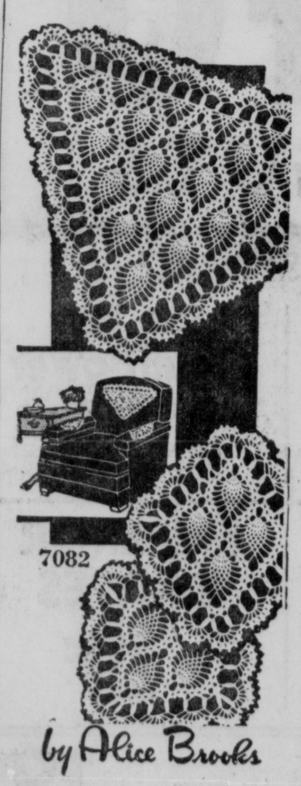

If you should happen to spill ink on your rug, FORGET THE OLD MILK METHOD! Most inks today are made to adhere to paper, a cellulose substance. Most carpet backings are also cellulose and will absorb and hold ink acting as a reservoir to feed color to the surface. In the days when the method for blotting up ink stains was to use milk, there was a reason for it. Ink in days gone by contained a certain amount of iron which the milk treatment would absorb. That is not the case today. Not only will milk NOT absorb your ink of today but might even set the stain.

If there is an ink spill—blot it up as rapidly as possible. Apply a dry cleaning fluid. Saturate the spot, work the liquid in with a small stick and blot up the excess. Continue as long as color shows on the blotting material. (Beware of carbon tetrachloride, it is dangerous.)

If the color remains, try mixing two tablespoons of household ammonia with a neutral detergent mixed with water. If this doesn't work—call in a professional cleaner.

Just a few tips—hope they are helpful.

RECOGNIZING A VOICE ON THE TELEPHONE

Dear Mrs. Post: I am in my early teens and have a problem I would like you to settle. Whenever I call my girl friend on the telephone I always say, "Hello, may I speak to ..." One of my friend's parents thinks I am very rude and that I should say, "Hello, Mrs. Smith (or Mr. Smith), may I please speak to '..." Will you please tell me what is correct?

Answer: If you definitely recognize the voice of Mrs. or Mr. Smith is correct and friendly to show that you do by saying "Hello, Mrs. Smith (or Mr. Smith), may I please speak to Jane?"

When Several Send One Present

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently one of the girls in our office was married and four other young women and myself chipped in and bought her a very nice wedding present. In return she wrote a blanket thank-you note addressed to one of the girls. My own reaction to this was that she did not think the present important enough to send us each a note and I feel very slighted over it. Don't you think she should have written us each a note?

Answer: It seems to me that five people who together send one present have a right to expect individual letters of thanks. It would be hard to make a rule on how many more than five would make a group and could be thanked, as such, with one letter.

A Habit That Must Be Broken

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband is a very well-bred person but he has a most distressing habit. He keeps a cigar habitually in his mouth and does not remove it when speaking to people. Don't you agree with me that it is very impolite?

Answer: This habit certainly belies his good breeding. Speaking to anyone with a cigar in his mouth is the height of rudeness.

Oppenheimer to Speak On Culture Oct. 29 In Poughkeepsie

Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, director of the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton, N. J., will give this year's Helen Kenyon Lecture at Vassar College on Wednesday, Oct. 29. His topic is "Knowledge and the Structure of Culture."

Established in 1939 in honor of Miss Helen Kenyon, first woman chairman of the Vassar College Board of Trusttes, the lectureship brings to the Vassar campus each year an outstanding person who is a recognized leader in some field of intellectual endeavor. In addition to a formal lecture, opportunities are made for Vassar students to meet informally with the speaker during a period of several days spent on the campus.

This year Dr. Oppenheimer will visit classes in the social sciences and humanities, and meet with advanced students in mathematics, physics and chemistry as well as with the combined Faculty and Student Science Clubs.

Among former Kenyon lecturers have been Dame Ninette de Valois, Mildred McAfee Horton, Anne O'Hare McCormick, Jose Limon and Anna Rosenberg.

Kingston Hospital Auxiliary to Establish Awards Program for Volunteer Workers

Service committee reports were given by the Mmes. Kay Kennedy, Robert Harkins and Herbert Martin. Mrs. Kennedy, reporting on the Baby Photo service, gave a most encouraging financial report covering the last six months and also reported the recruiting of a number of new volunteers for the committee. Mrs. Harkins, reporting for the Good Cheer committee, announced that volunteer groups had been obtained for this committee covering each of the holidays during the year. Mrs. Martin, reporting on the Sales Cart, announced that the volunteer response for this work was excellent and that the cart was being well manned.

Mrs. Gifford Beal, president of the Auxiliary, announced that three members of the group had attended the third annual luncheon-meeting of the Auxiliary of St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh and that six members had attended the Northeastern District Conference of the Hospital Association of New York State at Albany Hospital. Short and interesting reports were given by some of the members who had attended these conferences. Growing out of information obtained at these conferences a discussion on the subject of establishing an awards program for volunteer workers at Kingston Hospital was held.

The following new members were received into the membership during the past two months: Mmes. Jerome Mills, Henry Brigham, Gilbert Gray, Charles Nichols, Morris Kalish, Sully Flemming, James Penrose, Jacob Moss, Harold Muma, Thomas Best, Stephen Fraser, Kenneth Michals, William Hulsair and James Mathers.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Robert Short and Mrs. Mortimer Englander.

Clinton Chapter 445

The regular meeting of Clinton Chapter, 445, Order of the Eastern Star, will convene in Masonic Temple Friday at 7:45 p. m. This will be "Master Masons' Night" all local Masons having been invited as guests of honor. Mrs. Veronica Winkelstern of Jeffersonville, noted as a student of Masonic history and symbols, will be the speaker. The Worthy Matron, Mrs. Ivan Mallow, will give her report of the 89th annual session of the Grand Chapter, State of New York, which has just concluded. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Kay Mustaparta Studies Malayan Customs, Religion; Will Wed Murad Hasim Friday

The daughter of a Hercules Powder Company executive, formerly of Kingston, now residing in Hercules, Calif., is busy today preparing for her wedding to Murad Hashim at Penang, Malaya set for Friday, according to a report received from her family.

She is Kay Mustaparta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Mustaparta. Area residents will remember Mr. Mustaparta since he was personnel and safety supervisor at the Port Ewen plant for more than 16 years. He is now serving in the same capacity at the California plant.

Miss Mustaparta, who arrived in Singapore a few months ago, has been busy studying the Moslem religion in preparation for her marriage to Murad Mohamed Hashim, public relations officer of the Standard Vacuum Oil Company in Malaya. She has also been learning to cook Malayan dishes and wear Malayan clothes. Miss Mustaparta is 19, her fiance is 25.

The couple met at a dance two years ago held at Boston University where both were students. Mr. Hashim was graduated from the university this year. He was studying in the United States on the Student Exchange Program. Miss Mustaparta, who was graduated from Kingston High School in 1956, was also an active member of YWCA clubs in this city.

Mrs. Van Vliet Is Feted at Party

A surprise baby shower was given for Mrs. Harry Van Vliet 3rd, by Mrs. William Schabot and Miss Betty Jean Riehl on Friday, Oct. 17, at the home of Mrs. Schabot in Sunset Park.

Attending, along with the hostesses, were Mrs. Orrie Riehl, Mrs. Harry Van Vliet Jr., Mrs. Raymond Krum, Mrs. William Morris Jr., Mrs. Gerald Breithaupt, Mrs. Ephraim Schabot, Mrs. Allen Riehl, Mrs. James Tubby, Mrs. Daniel Landi, Mrs. Donald Van Etten and Mrs. William Whitaker. Also, the Misses Coreen Van Vliet, Maryanne Topp, and Gloria Berry.

Gifts were also received from Mrs. Veta Van Kleeck, Mrs. Thomas Krum, Mrs. Huyler Van Wagenen and Miss Nora Van Vliet.

Colonial Rebekah

Colonial Rebekah Lodge 48 will meet in the Lodge rooms, Broadway and Brewster Street, on Monday at 7:30 p. m. At 8 p. m., immediately after the business meeting, a card party will be held to which the public is invited. Members are asked to bring sandwiches. Serving on the refreshment committee will be Florence Wells, vice grand and chairman, Josephine Partridge and Bertha Lawrence.

History of AAUW Outlined by Speaker At Tuesday Meeting

A kaleidoscope view of the American Association of University Women was provided for new and prospective members of the Kingston branch at an orientation meeting Tuesday evening, Oct. 21.

Mrs. John J. Erickson, second vice-president and membership chairman, was in charge of the session, held at the home of Mrs. Ida Sherman and Miss Ione Kinkade, 12 Orchard Street, Hurley. Attending were officers and chairmen of standing committees of the Kingston branch.

New and prospective members include the Mmes. Robert C. Bartlett, Robert Buck, Vincent Cahill, Frank Grimaldi Jr., James Hamlin, Francis Hancock, Joseph Kearney, Carl Lipton Herbert Mayer, Ernest Myer, Paul Prentise, Robert Ronder and John Sandeen.

Mrs. Erickson outlined the historical background of the national organization, which includes 142,000 members in 1,402 branches throughout 48 states, the District of Columbia, Hawaii, Alaska and Guam. AAUW is affiliated with the International Federation of University Women, which has organizations in 48 countries. The national organization maintains a permanent representative at the United Nations and is also active in legislative lobbying. Mrs. Erickson described the relationship of the local group to state and national organizations and explained how the AAUW program is carried out through study-group activities.

Mrs. Rossell Hope Robbins, president of the Kingston branch, gave a resume of AAUW aims and ideals, noting that it is the only organization granting fellowships to graduate women scholars beyond the doctorate level. She described her duties in terms of local, state, Mid-Atlantic region and national AAUW programs.

Mrs. William E. Powers Jr., first vice president and program chairman, outlined the program planned for the year. The theme of each meeting, held usually on the second Tuesday of the month, is geared to the interests of a particular study group.

Mrs. Erikson explained AAUW membership requirements, which stipulate that all members accepted must hold certain degrees from a college or university on the AAUW-approved list. The 413 schools thus approved must offer a good basic core of liberal-arts education, as opposed to limited or technical training; must maintain high academic standards; must provide adequate facilities for women students; must recognize women in administration and on the faculty; and must allow intellectual freedom for teachers and staff members.

She noted that alumnae of schools which do not meet these requirements have the responsibility of urging their schools' administrators to raise their standards. Mrs. Erickson also described the AAUW processing for membership.

Mrs. George Dingee, chairman of the Education Committee, reviewed fields in which the study group has been active, including the establishment of the Ulster County Mental Health Board and the consolidation movement last year. Among the topics to be studied this year is the establishment of a community college in this area.

Mrs. Arnold Pinsly, chairman of the Social and Economic Issues Committee, announced that the group hopes to assist the local Association for the Help of Retarded Children. Areas in which help has been requested include planning the year's school program for retarded youngsters; education of parents as to their children's needs and capabilities; location of sites in which teen-age recreation programs and a summer camp session may be held; and personal counseling for those from ages 16 to 20.

The "Mass Media" group headed by Mrs. Fred C. Brammer will concern itself with all forms of communication. "Who Makes Up Our Political Mind?" will be the topic of the group's first session, set from 12:30 to 3 p. m. Monday, Nov. 3, at Mrs. Brammer's home, 4 Country Club Circle, Mount Marion. Mrs. Robert C. Bartlett reported for the group at Tuesday's meeting.

Mrs. Carl J. Kaminsky Jr., fellowship chairman, noted that the local group participates in financing 41 national fellowships, 35 international grants, and two state fellowships. This year's New York State Teachers' Graduate Study award went to Miss Patricia O'Donovan of Newburgh, now a student at the University of Madrid.

The local branch awards an annual $200 scholarship to an outstanding senior girl at Kingston High School. Fellowship funds are raised through events held throughout the year, such as the Turnau Opera Players benefit sponsored by AAUW this summer and the Book Fair, held in conjunction with the Ulster County Fair.

The Legislative Committee, with Mrs. Harold Barton as chairman, keeps the branch informed on state and national legislative policies and provides action on current local issues.

A study of women's development in terms of social and educational progress is planned by the Status of Women group, headed by Mrs. Floyd Wilson. Mrs. Wilson is also chairman of the sketching group, which meets weekly.

The Book Discussion Group, sponsored by the Arts Committee, is open to members, nonmembers and their husbands. Sessions are held on the last Monday of each month. "The Lonely Crowd" by David Riesman will be the topic of the Monday, Oct. 27, session, planned for 8:15 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Ernest Grafe, Bloomington. Mrs. Milton J. Collins is chairman of the Arts Committee.

Mrs. Robbins outlined past programs carried on by the International Relations group, which studied Near East problems last year. The group will formulate its own topics of interest for the current year's study.

Mrs. John J. Hofler reported on the branch's public relations programs, which includes a monthly bulletin to members and publicity releases to area media of communication. Mrs. Robert S. Yallum is chairman.

The Kingston AAUW branch will hold its next meeting at 8 p. m. Tuesday, Nov. 18, in George Washington School. Speaker will be Mrs. Harry Cornwell, president of the New Paltz League of Women Voters.

Officers of the local group include Mrs. Alexander T. Chepeleff, recording secretary; Mrs. Henry F. Kwasnowski, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. John McCullough, treasurer. Mrs. Bruce Felton and Mrs. Robert Powers assisted Mrs. Erickson with arrangements for Tuesday's meeting.

Keating Brands Hogan Poor Risk

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. (AP)—Rep. Kenneth B. Keating wound up his last upstate campaign swing today by branding Frank Hogan "a poor risk" in government spending.

The Republican candidate for U. S. Senator told a GOP rally here that Hogan, his Democratic opponent, should not be entrusted with any control over the public's purse strings.

"He has managed to identify himself with some of the wildest, silliest spenders ever produced," Keating declared in a prepared speech.

"I don't know where these fiscal wizards come from but they seem to have the prosecutor under their spell," he said.

Keating's three-day tour took him from Rochester to Buffalo to Jamestown. At various stops along the route he hammered away at Hogan, the district attorney of Manhattan.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Potatoes, a staple of the American diet since colonial times, steals the food spotlight this week with prices hammered down by a swelling fall crop.

Government experts look for a crop of about 176½ million hundredweight, or roughly 12 per cent above last year and 16 per cent above the recent average. The bumper supply steepens the normal seasonal dip in prices.

Meat Specials Vary

Americans now eat more than 90 pounds of white potatoes per person every year, with nearly two-thirds of the supply from the fall crop. The yearly total is as much as all other vegetables combined on a poundage basis.

Meat specials in the supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores are varied this weekend Beef cuts ranging from chuck roast to steak appear slightly more numerous than pork as meat men await a drop in pork prices due to increased marketing of hogs in recent weeks.

Fryers are down 2 to 6 cents a pound in a few places, but other prices are relatively stable.

Small and medium eggs are the best bet for the housewife planning to whip up an omelet because price margins between the smaller and larger sizes are unusually wide.

Other Good Buys

Apples are outstanding in the fruit department. Pears from Western orchards also are a good buy, while prices are being shaved on California oranges and lemons.

Morris in Talk At Olive Rally

Christopher Morris, Democratic candidate for Congress, attacked the Republican Congressional record in an address before a rally in the town of Olive Tuesday evening, and described his opponent in the race as "the silent Congressman."

He charged that the record of the Republican incumbent was characterized by a lack of interest in questions of vital importance to the general public.

He pledged full attention to all legislative issues and laid heavy emphasis on the issue of social security benefits. Citing the vote on provision of food out of food surpluses for the use of elderly needy persons, Morris listed the Republican record on federal legislation affecting the citizen of 65 and over, charging that in 1956 a majority of 85 per cent of House Republicans voted against an amendment providing for a 10 per cent increase in old age benefits. He said the same majority also voted down the food surplus proposal.

"One more Democratic vote would have meant passage of increased public assistance to the aged and blind," he said. "Six more Democratic votes would have set up a decent housing program for elderly citizens."

New Cabinet for Thai

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Marshal Sarit Thanarat, who threw out Thailand's government, constitution and National Assembly Monday, announced today that a new provisional cabinet will be picked soon.

A constituent assembly to draft a constitution and act as a legislative council during the provisional government's tenure also will be chosen, Sarit said in a communique.

Presumably both the government and assembly will be handpicked by the strongman and his ruling military clique, who tossed out Premier Thanom Kittikachorn last Monday.

New Paltz C of C Outlines Projects To Jaycees Unit

President Leland Heinze of New Paltz Chamber of Commerce addressed the New Paltz Jaycees at the regular membership meeting held at Harmony Inn early this week. Heinze told those present about the history of the Chamber and the groups current projects.

Among the projects discussed were: better police protection for the village during certain hours, improving traffic control, paving of Main Street and conducting a shopping survey. A question and answer period followed.

Seeks Endorsements

Heinze expressed the opinion that the Jaycees endorsement of various Chamber of Commerce projects would definitely help in getting the responsible people concerned to take appropriate action.

Membership Committee Chairman Ralph Amsen announced that a list of prospective members has been prepared and that letters will be sent this week to everyone on this list. Teams of Jaycees will then call on these prospects to explain the Jaycee organization.

During the business session, President Eldon Johnson appointed Donald Martin to fill an unexpired term on the board of directors. Martin is a charter member.

Past President Ralph Dennis, President Johnson and Vice President Amsen were presented Spoke Awards during the meeting. These awards were given in recognition of enthusiastic participation in many phases of Jaycee activities.

Prepare for Parley

Preparations are underway for the New Paltz Jaycees to host one or two overseas delegates to the Junior Chamber International Congress which will be held in Minneapolis, Minn. in mid-November. Delegates who enter the country through New York City will be hosted by Jaycee chapters throughout the state on their way to Minneapolis or on their way back home.

Peiping Joins Campaign

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China today said the U.S. Republican party has failed in an effort to make American voters think the now broken Quemoy cease-fire was a victory for President Eisenhower's administration.

Peiping radio declared: "The Republicans had been clamoring that the two orders . . . for the temporary suspension of bombardment of Quemoy were the result of the 'firm policy' followed by the U.S. and a 'victory' of its policy of no 'appeasement.'

"Now the victory of the Republicans has vanished into the air."

156th to Attend 2-Day Training

All Kingston and Poughkeepsie units of the 156th Field Artillery Battalion, New York Army National Guard, will motor march to Camp Smith near Peekskill, Saturday morning to attend a weekend two-day training session, according to an announcement by Lieutenant Colonel Frank W. Harkin, commanding officer.

"Training objectives include Qualifications firing with individual primary weapon, familiarization firing with secondary weapon, driver training, maintenance of weapons and equipment, operation of administrative section, operation of mess, occupation of cantonment area, and integrated training," he said.

Kingston units will depart from the National Guard Armory, North Manor Avenue, starting at 7:15 a. m., Saturday, and travel via motor vehicle on Route 9W to Mid-Hudson Bridge and Route 9 to Camp Smith. Poughkeepsie units will depart, starting at 7:30 a. m.

All personnel attending the weekend "drills" will remain overnight at Camp Smith and occupy billets in the West Cantonment area. Rifle and carbine ranges will be utilized as will sub-machine gun ranges. Church services have been scheduled for Sunday.

In addition to the 156th Field Artillery Battalion, the 170th Field Artillery Battalion of Newburgh and Middletown will attend weekend training at Camp Smith.

An advance detail, under command of Captain Frank Fabbie will leave on Friday afternoon to make preparation at Camp Smith to receive the main body on Saturday morning.

Pope's Crown Polished

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The richly jeweled triple crown of the popes has been cleaned and polished for the coronation of its next wearer.

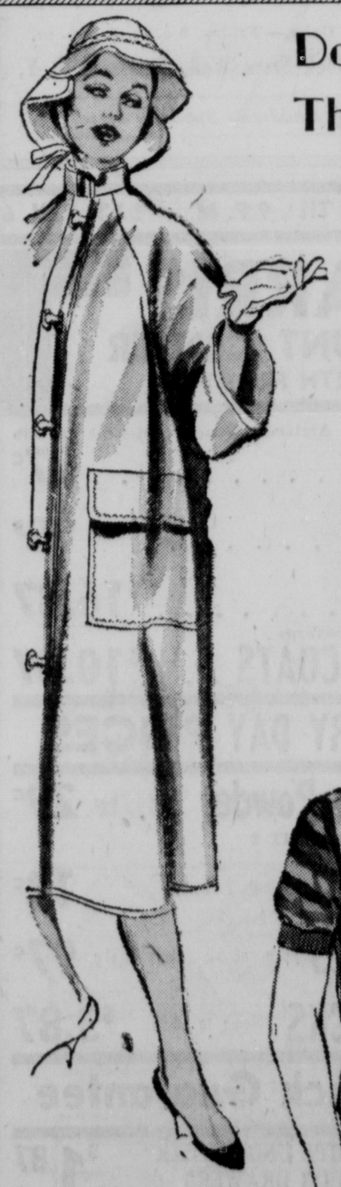

Vatican sources said the beehive - shaped crown was taken Wednesday to a Rome goldsmith, who worked in the presence of two priests. It was returned to the Vatican a few hours later.

The tiara is the most previous of the three papal crowns in the Vatican. It was made for the coronation of Pope Pius IX in 1846.

Historical Society Names Rev. Todd Honorary Trustee

The Rev. Harvey I. Todd, former pastor of the Dutch Reformed Church of Woodstock, was named an honorary trustee of the Woodstock Historical Society at the October meeting of the organization.

A resolution by Mrs. Eva Beard recommending the honorary trusteeship for the Rev. Mr. Todd was unanimously approved. The Rev. Mr. Todd had been a member and officer of the society for many years prior to his retirement as pastor of Dutch Reformed and his subsequent transfer to Mellenville, N. Y.

Alf Evers, president of the society, spoke of the forthcoming Hudson-Champlain celebration to take place in 1959 and reported that Supervisor or Joseph Fitzsimmons had said that he was most anxious for the Town Board committee and the Historical Society to work together to obtain the most successful results for the event scheduled next year.

Evers also noted that since the legislature was unwilling to appropriate sufficient funds for furtherance of the project, it would be up to the society, the individual committees and townships to insure the success of the celebration.

Suggest Art Exhibit

It was suggested that a retrospective exhibition of Hudson River art might be an excellent project for the township of Woodstock. Such an idea had previously received the enthusiastic endorsement of Harry R. Rigby of Kingston, the Ulster county chairman of the Hudson-Champlain observance.

Mrs. Zimm Speaks

Evers then introduced as speaker of the day, a member of the Woodstock society, Mrs. Bruno L. Zimm, who described her experience in discovering papers in the files of the New York Historical Society.

Among these papers, said Mrs. Zimm, were old diaries which contained the details of leases made to farmers in Woodstock by Chancellor Livingston and his mother from 1790 to 1813. Many of the old names of Woodstock settlers are names of the present families here and these records form an invaluable addition to those of the town and of the society.

Mrs. Zimm sketched the career of Chancellor Livingston. He was born in 1736, she said, the son of Judge Livingston. He was minister to France, administered the oath of office to George Washington in 1789; was instrumental in the purchase of Louisiana and helped Fulton with his steamboat on the Hudson.

Most of the early settlers in Woodstock were veterans of the Revolution, said Mrs. Zimm, who hoped to settle down to a life of farming, but who were not able to buy land from the Livingstons, but had to lease it, generally paying so many bushels a year of wheat in payment of rent. This condition led inevitably to the Down-Rent War, after which laws were changed to remedy such unfair transactions.

Tells Indian Story

Mrs. Zimm concluded her recital by reading a story she had written about Kingston in 1663. It was a thrilling tale of a doctor and his wife and children living in the stockade. An Indian raid was described in all its terrifying details and her listeners were tense until the tale reached its happy ending.

President Evers praised Mrs. Zimm warmly in behalf of the Society and described her talk as "completely authentic and charming."

During the business meeting, Mrs. Zimm received a vote of thanks from the Society for her generous cooperation in donating the missing members of "Olde Ulster" so that the entire set might be bound and presented to the Woodstock Library. Mrs. Herman Oxhandler's motion thanking Mrs. Zimm was unanimously approved.

The secretary noted, in this connection, that the 10 bound volumes of "Olde Ulster" had been received by Mr. Evers and presented by him to the Woodstock Library and that the bill for binding them had been paid by the treasurer of the society.

'Opened Little Book' Topic for Rev. Sands

The Rev. G. Oliver Sands plans to preach on "The Opened Little Book" on Reformation Sunday, Oct. 25, at the 11 a. m. services in Christ Lutheran Church. The theme receives inspiration from the vision of St. John as stated in Rev. 10:2.

The sessions of the Sunday school opens at 9:45 a. m. and will be devoted to the "Temptation of Jesus."

The Fellowship Family will meet at Zena Country Club at 6 p. m. for a devotional and recreational period planned by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Holumzer and Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Holumzer. They plan to serve dessert, with tea and coffee for the grown-ups and milk for the children.

All are welcome at all services. If you have no church home here, you are urged to join our friendly small church.

December 6 at 10 a. m. is the date set for the Pre-Christmas sale of the Young Women's Guild.

State Group Slated To Visit the Guild

The Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen will hold an open meeting to greet the board of directors of the New York State Craftsmen at the Guild Galleries, Saturday, Nov. 1, at 8 p. m.

The meeting will be in the joint interest of arrangements for a state-wide exhibition of crafts to be held in Albany, Feb. 27 to March 22. Mrs. Lois O'Connor of Ithaca, president of the New York state organization, will address the group and slides will be shown.

Woodstock Bankers Host Orange Group

The Woodstock branch of The Bank of Orange County represented by Frank Benson, vice president, and Elbert C. Varney, bank manager, were hosts to the officers and directors of its associate member banks located in Goshen and Rosendale at a dinner meeting held at Mead's Mountain House.

Various banking subjects of mutual interest were presented for discussion by the officers and directors of the three member banks. The Woodstock Advisory Board attending included Frank A. Benson, Karl Cousins, Anthony de Lisio, DeWitt Shultis and Elbert Varney; also Charles Benson, publicity.

Attending from the Rosendale branch were Leif Anderson, bank manager, and E. J. O'Reilly and Herman Osmers, all advisory board members.

The directors representing the main office in Goshen were Francis W. Murray Jr., president, and Francis W. Murray 3rd, Henry Hopkins, I. Harold Houston and Frank Benson.

Francis W. Murray Jr., active president since 1917 and his son, Francis Murray 3rd, a director, have a distinguished family heritage in the banking business. The Murray family have been directing officers and principal stockholders in the Bank of Orange County since 1834. The Bank of Orange County was chartered in 1812.

School Dance Well Attended

The first P-TA sponsored Student Dance of the year was held at the Woodstock school gym, with more than 75 students attending.

Following a Halloween theme, the gym was decorated by members of the dance committee and the following students: Sue Horsey, Pat Cocks, Carolyn Quednau, Sheila Clark and Ann Smith. Harrison Muller was on hand to give beginners a lesson and the dance got off to a wonderful start with the students dancing to their favorite records.

Featured were a Paul Jones, Ladies Choice and Fortune Telling. Two prizes were awarded by H. Houst and Sons. Refreshments were donated by the parents of the students. Chaperoning for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Ben Merch, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lund and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Gibson.

Juvenile Architects

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—After a thorough study of city building codes, analysis of 40 basic house designs, and a lot of mathematics for reduction to scale, three young men here have designed some forward-looking homes. They're not quite ready to hang out shingles as architects yet, however. All are in the eighth grade, and the homes are built on a scale of a half-inch to the foot.

Safety Play Loses Trick

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The student won the opening lead and played dummy's ace of trumps. When West showed out he had no trouble picking up the whole suit, and since the heart finesse worked he made seven.

"Pretty good, wasn't it?" he asked the Professor.

"It was nicely bid and you made every trick," was the answer. "Neverthless, you made two mistakes in the play."

"You should have started by taking the heart finesse. Once that worked you should have played the king of trumps from our own hand. Since East held all four trumps this would have cost you a trick, but you would still have made your small slam, and furthermore, you would have made it against any possible trump holding. The way you did play the trumps you would have gone down if West had held all four instead of East."

"I see the safety play now," said the student. "But why should I have taken the heart finesse before going after trumps?

"Because the heart finesse might have lost," replied the Professor. "In that case you could not afford the safety play and would have played the trumps exactly the way you did."

Smart Wife Reads Signals, Sidetracks to Save Marriage

Many a marriage that finally failed could have been saved if the wife had been quick to recognize the danger signals as they came along and had gotten busy and done something to give the marriage a new lease on life.

Here are a few danger signals any wife ought to pay attention to:

Her husband spends more and more time away from home, seeming to grab at any excuse for spending his evenings anywhere but under his own roof. This danger sign clearly says that he must find home life dull and depressing to want to take it only in small doses. A smart wife answers that danger signal by making her home and herself as attractive as possible, and by bringing in new friends and new interests. And she certainly doesn't nag her husband for being gone so much.

Her husband is irritable all the time, with her and with the children. In this case, instead of snapping back at him she tries to find out what is on his mind and to help him solve whatever problem is bothering him—whether he is unhappy in his work, feels that he is swamped with bills, that he has no say-so about his children, or whatever.

Her husband protests that she's killing him with too much social life, that he can't stay up half the night and do his job the next day. This is so easy a problem to solve it's a wonder any woman would simply shrug it off night after night or tell her husband, "You'll feel better when you've had a drink.

Her husband doesn't share her social ambitions, her plans for the future or her goals for the family. Instead of thinking that her husband is a clod, has old-fashioned notions or is just plain stingy, she ought to try to find out what is important to him and be ready to make compromises. Some women don't bother to do this because they not only think "Mother knows best," but "Wife knows best," too.

Plans for Fire Police School Are Set Wednesday

Plans for a fire police school to be held in January were completed at a meeting in the courthouse Wednesday night.

Attending the meeting were a committee from the Fire Police Association of Ulster County, Dennis J. Hurley of the Police Bureau staff and members of the Ulster County sheriff's office.

Hurley will be the director of the training school, it was announced.

Arthur Rice, president of the association, urges all members to attend the next meeting at which time final plans for the school will be announced, including place and times.

Too Much Concentration

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Police said Elwood Skaggs was concentrating on the six pockets of a pool table until an onlooker cued him in on a seventh one. Told to check his rear pocket by a man watching the game, police said Skaggs, 27, told them he found someone had cut it and removed his wallet with $146.

Talks Still Deadlocked

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bargaining affecting 25,000 employes of Pittsburgh Plate and Libbey-Owens-Ford glass companies continued deadlocked today on incentive pay rates and other issues.

The United Glass and Ceramics Workers Union and the two companies renewed negotiations here Wednesday. Talks were broken off when the strike was called Oct. 11.

The session recessed Wednesday night without any announcement as to progress. Neither side has disclosed demands or offers, but a company spokesman had said prior to the bargaining here that wages were not the main cause of the dispute.

20-Day Walkout Ends

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Limited production was resumed today at the Harrison Radiator Division plant of General Motors following worker approval of a new local contract Wednesday.

The plant's 1,300 workers ratified a United Auto Workers agreement reached with the company the day before. Their action ended a 20-day walkout.

All five locals joined a nationwide UAW walkout Oct. 2 and were authorized by the union to remain on strike over local issues after a nationwide agreement had been reached.

Onteora Central Harriers Capture Quadrangular Meet

Sawyers' Saxon Shatters Record In 11:40 Romp

Onteora Central's cross country squad won a quadrangular meet at Saugerties yesterday, but the Boiceville harriers had to share honors with Saugerties High's brilliant senior runner, Lew Saxon, who set a new course record of 11 minutes, 40 seconds for the 2.4 miles Saugerties layout.

Ten other runners chased Saxon across the finish line in times bettering the 13:00 standard by Richard Schopinsky of Marlboro Central in 1956.

Onteora's Herb Krein and Bruce Hopkins finished third and fourth behind Arlington High's Charles McKenna, who trailed Saxon by 12 seconds.

Arlington won second place with 42 points to Onteora's 39. Saugerties was third with 47 and Wallkill Central a distant third with 111.

Robert Wilkins and George Foster ran eighth and ninth and Ed Krein and Jim Lawrence grabbed the vital 14th and 15th positions to cinch the victory for Coach Bernie Stahl's potent squad.

1.	Lew Saxon	SHS	11:40

Solid South Yonkers First

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Solid South splashed home through the mud Wednesday night to nose out Easy Adios in the Class AA pace at Yonkers Raceway.

The 4-year-old gelding, driven by Bill Haughton, was timed in 2:08 for his ninth victory in 21 starts. He returned $20.70.

Governor G. whipped Futurity Chief by nearly three lengths in the feature milk pace at Batavia Downs. With Bud Gilmour at the reins, the Governor did the mile in 2:06 and paid $18.80.

Veteran Gardner Hockey Click

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cal Gardner, 14-year veteran of professional hockey, is 33 years old. But you never would have guessed it from the way he showed his younger rivals the tricks of the trade Wednesday night in one of the two games played in the American Hockey League.

The crafty Gardner, who played all of his pro hockey in the National League before taking over last season as player-coach of the Springfield Indians, scored three goals in leading the Providence Reds to a 5-1 victory over the Rochester Americans.

Balotin's Jolt Wimpy's 79-75

Rip Krieger meshed 29 points and key layup shot, as Balotin's upset Wimpy's, 79-75, in the YMCA "A" League.

Krieger's layup and Dave Quatler's jump shot with 20 seconds left decided one of the most exciting games of the season. Balotin's led 40-37 at the half.

Joe Klonowski led Wimpy's with 26 points and Skip Brodhead potted 21.

The score:

Wimpy's (75)

Football Briefs

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP(— Cornell football Capt. Bob Hazzard, who has been out of action with an injury this season, may play in Saturday's game against Princeton.

Hazzard, a senior halfback from Yonkers, suffered a knee injury early in pre-season practice.

HAMILTON, N. Y. (AP)—Two varsity linemen have recovered from injuries and are back in action as starters for the Colgate University football squad. They are seniors Al Jamison and Bill Morog.

Jamison, an end, and Morog, a tackle, had been with the second team for the past two weeks while recovering. They will start Saturday against Yale.

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Former fullback John Nicholl will see lengthy action at center for the Syracuse University football squad Saturday, says Coach Ben Schwartzwalder.

Nicholl, a 186-pounder from Cortland, has been a reserve center. Schwartzwalder said he was pleased with Nicholl's work against Nebraska last week.

Syracuse plays Penn State this Saturday.

NBA Opener

Baylor Stars in Debut; Knicks Purchase Selvy

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — It took All-America Elgin Baylor just eight seconds to get on the scoreboard in his first pro basketball game and just one night to fire the fancy of Minneapolis Laker fans.

The 6-6 rookie from Seattle University scored 25 points in his National Basketball Assn. debut Wednesday night in steering the Lakers to a walkaway 99-79 victory over the Cincinnati Royals.

The smoothly-coordinated collegiate star, who drew some $20,000 for signing with a team that is out of business if the bonus boy can't bring in the crowds, bagged 10 of 21 field goal tries, 5 of 7 free throws, gathered 13 rebounds and had 6 assists.

Jack Parr, former Kansas State ace, also showed to advantage in his league debut. He scored 14 points for the Royals and was topped only by Dave Piontek with 17.

The New York Knickerbockers also made news in the NBA by obtaining Frank Selvy, former All-America from Furman, from the St. Louis Hawks for their second draft choice next spring and by defeating Philadelphia 109-108 in and exhibition game.

The Knicks will be the fourth club Selvy has played with since 1954. He was drafted by the defunct Baltimore Bullets, moved to Milwaukee when the Baltimore clubs folded, went with the Hawks to St. Louis when the Milwaukee franchise was transferred and played with Minneapolis last season on a lend-lease basis.

Bill Skowron Speaker For Babe Ruth Banquet

Yankee Slugger Due At Elks on Saturday

Bill Skowron, the New York Yankees' "Mighty Moose" will be guest speaker at the Babe Ruth League's annual banquet Saturday night at the Elks Lodge

Skowron, one of the top freshman to come up to the Yankee varsity in recent years, was bothered by injuries in 1958 and was not up to his career par.

The former Big Ten punting star at Purdue, Skowron was also rated one of the finest baseball players ever developed in the Big Ten. He batted over .300 in his first two years with the Yankees and had excellent World Series records. He got off to a slow start in this year's series with the Milwaukee Braves, but rallied to deliver a key hit in the crucial seventh game.

Studt announced that a few tickets are still available. Reservations can be made by calling him at his home after 5 p. m.

Raiders Notch Fifth Straight

Pitt Is Pulling Out All Stops For Army Game

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pitt's football team is pulling out all stops for Saturday's game here with unbeaten Army. The Panthers have several reasons.

For another, the game will go a long way toward deciding the eventual winner of the Lambert Trophy, emblematic of Eastern football supremacy. Army, winner in four games, and Pitt with a 4-1 record, currently are one-two in the weekly balloting.

Pitt Coach John Michelosen figures, quite naturally, his biggest problem will be stopping Army's fabulous halfback duo of Pete Dawkins and Bob Anderson and "lonesome end" Bill Carpenter.

"Lonesome George," said Michelosen making up his own tag, "kept me awake trying to figure a way to defense him. He's so fast you almost have to use two men to cover him. And he can come in diagonally for a quick pass or go deep."

If Michelosen has figured a way to stop the Cadets, who last week regained the national lead in total offense, he's keeping it under wraps.

In a radical departure for Pitt, the Panthers have opened up their offense considerably. Quarterback Ivan Toncic is especially prone to relay on aerials. He has completed 20 of 30 heaves, including three for touchdowns.

Colgate Ace Back to Haunt Yale in Bowl

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The troubles that have been coming in bundles for Yale's football team on Saturdays this season are showing up earlier than usual this week.

No sooner had the Yales stopped patting themselves on the back over their fortune in regaining one regular for Saturday's game with Colgate than word arrived that Colgate will have Al Jamison in the starting lineup.

To the unintiated, that means the full-time availability of the fellow considered about the best pass-catching end in the East. Jamison has been hobbled by a leg injury and, while playing occasionally, has been unable to maneuver properly.

Both Jamison and another Colgate regular, tackle Bill Morog, have been taken off the injured list and put into the starting lineup for the game at the bowl.

That bodes little good for a Yale bunch that has lost three in a row, all Ivy games, since winning an 8-6 squeaker over Connecticut in a season opener. Yale will have regular fullback Jeff Kahn back for duty after illness and end Jim Stacke around to help the reserves.

Tailback Dan Sachs and tackle Frank Schultz have recovered from early season injuries and will be available for spot duty for Princeton against Cornell. Cornell may be able to use halfback Bob Hazzard, team captain who suffered a knee injury in pre-season practice.

Penn has only two players out with injuries for its Franklin Field date with crippled Navy. Coach Steve Sebo has rewarded end Terry Ward with a starting assignment for his showing in last Saturday's victory over Brown.

Even Month Away Kingston-Newburgh Turkey Day Game Looms As Real Classic

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Mark down Thursday, November 27, on your calendar. That is Thanksgiving Day and what appears now to be just another scheduled football game between Kingston High School and Newburgh Free Academy, could develop into one of the biggest ever in the long rivalry between the two schools.

Though Kingston players are practicing this week and next for what could be a good tussle in Albany next Saturday against unbeaten, once-tied Vincentian Institute, you can be sure the Maroon coaching staff has been taking notice of the modest 5-0 record compiled by the Goldbacks. True, they haven't met any club in the "world beater" class, but the fact remains—Newburgh is unbeaten.

The odds are good that NFA will play host to Kingston on Thanksgiving with a perfect record, unless it stumbles against either Port Jervis or Poughkeepsie, the two remaining foes before the "big" one. Of the two, the Pioneers could be the toughest obstacle, especially since the contest will take place in the Bridge City.

Still Month Away

But, the Newburgh fracas is still a month away and Kingston has three contests before then as the players try to add to their 20-game winning string. Coach Bill Burke personally scouted Vincentian Sunday against Christian Brothers Academy, and he was impressed, despite the fact it ended in a 13-13 tie. More than 7,000 fans sat in on the attraction, which featured the top Catholic school teams in the Albany area.

Burke said his boys came out of the Poughkeepsie game in good physical shape. "We didn't add any bruises or bumps to the ones we suffered against New Rochelle," Burke said. End Terry Corkery, who missed the PHS game, worked out for the first time in almost two weeks on Tuesday. He is expected to return to the lineup against Vincentian.

Of the three games remaining before Thanksgiving, the ones with Vincentian and Mont Pleasant are listed in the "trouble" category. The fracas at Middletown on November 15 should be a cake walk. The Middies are hapless.

Team Can Pass

The offense against Poughkeepsie was superb. The always feared running attack remained deadly and the club gained more than 100 yards in the air. Quarterback Jerry McDonough targeted his receivers with nine straight passes before he misfired. Two touchdowns came on passes and one other was set up by completed aerials.

The defense also sparkled and time after time the line rushed the Pioneer backs and either sent them reeling for long losses or forced the passes to be thrown out of range of the intended receivers.

One thing is certain. The week off will do Kingston a lot of good. The injured and bruised personnel should be in shape to start the last half of the most rugged schedule in the school's history.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By AL McCLANE
Fishing Editor

Sinkers come in all shapes and sizes from tiny pea-shaped splitshot used by pan-fishermen to huge drails dropped by commercials on the Continental Shelf. All are designed for one purpose, to get bait down to the fish. Which sinker to use depends on a variety of factors.

If you are fishing on the offshore banks for cod and the tide is running strong, the four-ounce pyramid sinker favored by beach casters won't hold bottom. The chances are it will take eight ounces of diamond sinker to keep the bait anchored.

Weight is one factor and shape is also important. There are streamlined sinkers used for tournament casting, and special purpose sinkers like the Dipsey, which is molded in a punching bag shape to prevent snagging in rocks. The drail is a large hook with the lead molded over the shank, and I have seen these used for fish up to a thousand pounds in weight—giant sea bass and marlin. Hook and sinker are together to prevent these powerful fish from snagging the sinker in the bottom.

There are special purpose sinkers. The trolling type is slim in shape for easy passage through the water, has a snap at one end and a swivel at the other. Trolling sinkers get the bait down and when it's in motion, they prevent line twist. The egg sinker is for specialists also; the line can be passed through the egg so that after a cast is made the biting fish won't feel its weight. As the fish nibbles at the bait the line moves without resistance.

The most widely used sinkers are the pyramid for surf casting, the bank sinker for general saltwater fishing, and the split shot for most freshwater work.

Phillies Name Tom Ferrick Pitching Coach

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Baseball's Tom Ferrick is coming back to Philadelphia and there isn't a happier coach in the game.

Ferrick, who has made his permanent home here since his rookie days with the old Athletics back in 1941, was named pitching coach of the Phillies by Manager Eddie Sawyer Wednesday.

He had been with Birdie Tebbetts in Cincinnati since 1953, but has been available since Birdie's resignation as Redlegs' manager.

"My first concern was to stay in baseball and I am joining a fine organization. Then, too, it's nice to be able to live at home. The bigger your family gets, the harder it is to move them for the baseball season," the 43-year-old mound veteran said.

Responsible in some measure for past successes with such Cincinnati veterans as Hal Jeffcoat, Hershell Freeman, Brooks Lawrence and Bob Purkey, Ferrick has high hopes he can help the Phils.

"There are a lot of good arms on the club," he said. "With youngsters like Don Cardwell, Seth Morehead and Jim Owens, and with Robin Roberts on the right track, it could be a fine staff.

"What happened this year (the Phillies finished in last place) I don't know, but there are many things about baseball which defy explanation. I just hope I can contribute something."

Army Back Hurt

WEST POINT (AP) — Harry Walters, hard driving fullback for top-ranked Army, will not see action against Pittsburgh on Saturday. Further gloom was added to the Cadet camp with the announcement that Capt. Pete Dawkins still remains a questionable quantity with final decision being delayed until Friday.

Auburn Still No. 1 on Defense

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Auburn had its long winning streak broken by a 7-7 tie with Georgia Tech last week, but that didn't stop the Plainsmen from adding to their prestige as a rock-ribbed defensive football unit.

The Plainsmen now lead the nation's major colleges in rushing defense, passing defense and total defense, the first time any team has set the pace in all three departments.

Auburn is ahead of its championship pace of last year. It has allowed an average of 48.3 yards a game rushing and 44.8 yards passing for a total of 93, compared with its respective figures of 65.8, 72 and 147.8 a year ago at this time. The current total defense is the best since the 1947 Penn State team's four-game average of 69.8. Figures were released today by National Collegiate Athletic Bureau in New York.

Only Two Lower

Only two teams — Oregon and Mississippi — have allowed fewer points than Auburn. Oregon has yielded 12 points, and Mississippi 14. Auburn and Colorado are next with 15 each, followed by Army with 16 and LSU with 22.

Auburn achieved the pass defense lead despite the fact Tech completed 8 of 10 tosses Saturday. They were good for only 71 yards, however. Purdue, climbing from fifth to second in total defense, held Michigan State to 38 rushing yards and 65 through the air.

Tulsa, rolling for 561 yards in swamping Drake Saturday for the best offensive performance of the week, also turned in the best defensive performance. It held the Iowans to minus two yards on land to move from fourth to second in rushing defense.

Syracuse jumped from 38th to 10th in total defense by limiting Nebraska to 11 yards rushing and 30 passing.

Indiana, W. Virginia Regain Goods Graces of the NCAA

CHICAGO (AP) — Indiana and West Virginia have been restored to good standing by the NCAA after serving one-year probationary periods.

The NCAA policy - directing council made the announcement Wednesday in ending a three-day session.

Indiana's penalty followed Big Ten action last year when Hoosier Football Coach Phil Dickens was suspended for the season for violating Big Ten recruiting rules.

The council did not impose any additional disciplinary action on any other NCAA member. This was the first time in 12 meetings since 1954 it has not taken such measures.

However, 15 cases are pending and 20 others are in a state of preliminary investigation. Eight schools remain under varying degrees of NCAA punishment — UCLA, Southern California, Seattle, Auburn, North Carolina State, Southern Methodist, Wichita and Memphis State.

In other main items of business, the council:

1. Proposed that any college athletic staff member should be considered guilty of unethical conduct if he were compensated for scouting or negotiating for professional teams.

2. Ruled, effective upon circulation among the members, that any athlete receiving direct or indirect financial aid from a professional sports organization will be ineligible for collegiate athletics.

Both measures were aimed primarily at relationships between colleges and professional baseball, said Walt Byers, executive director of the NCAA.

Eddie Lopat expressed concern about over-zealous Little League coaches and officials, but he overlooked one of the greatest enemies of small fry organizations—time.

The cycle of time when the sons of the first group of Little League organizers graduate into Babe Ruth or other leagues. The real test of the organization comes at the end of the third year. If new manpower hasn't been developed and impressed with the responsibility of "carrying on," then the league is in trouble.

We could cite case histories in the area, but they're irrelevant to the topic at hand.

The third annual banquet of the Town of Ulster LL revealed that president Al Whitmore's circuit has hurdled that crucial third year in excellent style. The league is prosperous, the managerial and coaching corps is solidly established and they're looking ahead to 1959. And with a dynamic publicity agent like Ted Musialkiewicz the story of the Town of Ulster LL will be properly chronicled for the public.

• Visit With an Old Slugger:

One of the nice things about breaking bread with the Ulster group was the opportunity to chat with an old baseball cronie, Charlie Lay, the scourge of area teams when he hit the long ball for the late John Ashdown's Pan Ams, John McCardle's Kingston All Stars and other topnotch teams of the golden era of semi-pro baseball.

Lay who has never lost his tremendous enthusiasm for the game, managed the Indians to the league championship with a sensational record of 17 wins in 18 games. Les Caunitz and Frank Short are the coaches and the players were William Palen, John Bream, Robert Barnhart, Robert Elliott, William Bassett, Barry Fraser, Louis Perry, David Lowe, Larry Scanlon, James Hall, Robert Finch, Douglas Posner, Bernard Burroughs, Dean Short, Wayne Leininger, whose dad is the distinguished golfer and Charles Lay Jr.

Junior Lay has the build to hit the long one and his proud father beamed, "I guess he can do it."

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Eddie Lopat said he was quite happy with his new assignment as roving pitching coach for the New York Yankee minor league chain. Did he consider it a promotion? "I guess you could call it that," smiled Steady Eddie, an observation not shared by any experts after the announcement hit the wires. Lopat, you know, was manager of Richmond, a Triple A club in the Yankee chain. "It's a real challenge," he said, "and will keep me moving from league to league checking on Yankee pitching prospects. It also gives me a chance to get home more often. I think I'll like the work because 75 per cent of the boys I'll be working with have been under my wing at one time or other." Lopat is high on Billy Short, the Kingston-born southpaw who starred at Newburgh Academy and Bill Stafford, a sensation at Coxsackie High but thinks both are about two years away.

• Of Men and Mice:

Harry Grayson, hard hitting NEA sports editor, and Charles Samuels, author of several hit novels including The Magnificent Rube (the life story of boxing promoter Tex Rickard) will address the annual banquet of the New York-New Jersey Baseball League Saturday night at the Davies Lake Hotel in New City. Grayson, of course, is well known to readers of The Daily Freeman's sports pages and without question one of the finest boxing and baseball observers on the sports beat. Has been for more than 40 years. Samuels is a witty, colorful speaker assuring the NY-NJ diners some of the best post-parandial entertainment in the league's history. Jack Vahl's Nyack Welders will pick up the team championship trophy and the Sen. Desmond travelling trophy which has been resting in Newburgh for a year . . . Dutches County Old Timers Baseball Association will honor 10 players at the group's dinner on Nov. 8 at the Polish-American Club. The list of Dutches County immortals includes Ludwig Gross, Millbrook; Ralph Simmons, Statsburg; Speed Finn, Millerton; George Dunbar, Amenia; Elmer Steele, Staatsburg; Fred Dahn, William Whalen, Dr. John R. Ross, Henry Corke and Arthur Sullivan, all of Poughkeepsie.

Cleveland Wigwam Simmers With Stockholder Troubles

CLEVELAND (AP) — The big wampum bearers in the Cleveland Indians' wigwam had their fingers in the war paint today, and it probably will be many moons before peace pipes glow again.

The current conflict comes hard upon a tribal decision not to seek a happier hunting ground south of in the plains country at Houston or in the land of the sky blue water at Minneapolis.

Lined up on one side of the tepee are Charles M. Baxter Jr., his brother, Andy Baxter, and Hank Greenberg.

On the other side, controlling about two-thirds of the wampum invested in the Tribe are big chief William R. Daley and other stockholders.

The Baxters and Greenberg — general manager of the baseball club for eight seasons until replaced by Frank Lane a year ago — have made public their dissatisfaction with the way the front office is operating. Clear out the dead wood, they say, naming no names but specifying they don't include Lane.

Two Way Deal

They say they will buy out the majority stockholders or they will sell their minority holding to the majority. Same price either way.

Based on an offer from Houston it would mean about a 50 per cent profit for the seller. The present owners paid nearly a four million dollar price for the Cleveland baseball club two years ago. Most of that amount was in notes and other debts they took over, not in cash.

Daley, spokesman for the other side, says he does "not want to enter into any public squabbling" and can't "see how it can help the ball club."

"some time ago I said that we had plans about strengthening management," he stated.

"I definitely do not intend to sell my stock," he continued, and added that he will not buy out the dissatisfied trio of directors at an asking price based on the Houston offer. Daley said he would buy them out "at a fair price" but that the Houston offer was on a condition of transfer of the franchise.

"The Indians are here to stay," he said, repeating the announcement he made a week ago.

Jordan Defeats Ortega on Coast

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Young Don Jordan of Los Angeles today emerged as the next probable title opponent of world welterweight champion Virgil Akins.

Jordan scored a split decision over Gaspar (Indian) Ortega of Tijuana, Mexico, in an unusual charity fight in 12 rounds Wednesday night. Today negotiations for formal contracts were opened for a title fight in Los Angeles Dec. 5.

Jordan outpointed Ortega in the view of Referee Frankie Van and Judge Tommy Hart, each scoring it 116-114 under California's 10-point-must per round system. Judge Lee Grossman had Ortega on top 115-113.

The nationally televised fight was the 46th win in 55 bouts for 23-year-old Jordan and the 14th loss in 62 matches for Ortega.

Jordan weighed 143¾ and Ortega 145¾.

President Again Hits Foes With 'Radical' Blast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Eisenhower concludes his cross-country campaign swing today, accused by Adlai Stevenson of joining Vice President Nixon "in a desperate, intolerable, demagoguery type of campaign."

With Eisenhower returning to Washington from his weeklong speaking tour, Nixon again took over the brunt of the Republican campaign for GOP congressional candidates with a swing into New York.

In the same hard-hitting campaign style he first unveiled in California, he told some 4,500 cheering party workers his administration has licked the recession without "a federal wheel chair," in spite of what he termed radical demands from congressional Democrats for huge spending programs.

Eisenhower's repeated use of the word "radical" during his tour brought heated criticism from Stevenson, Eisenhower's Democratic presidential opponent in 1952 and 1956.

"The old Nixon has been joined by the new Ike—or a new speech writer—in a desperate, intolerable demagoguery type of campaign," Stevenson told a meeting of Democratic precinct chiefs in Chicago.

Equity, the word, is the owner's actual interest in a property after prior claims have been met.

Matter of FACT

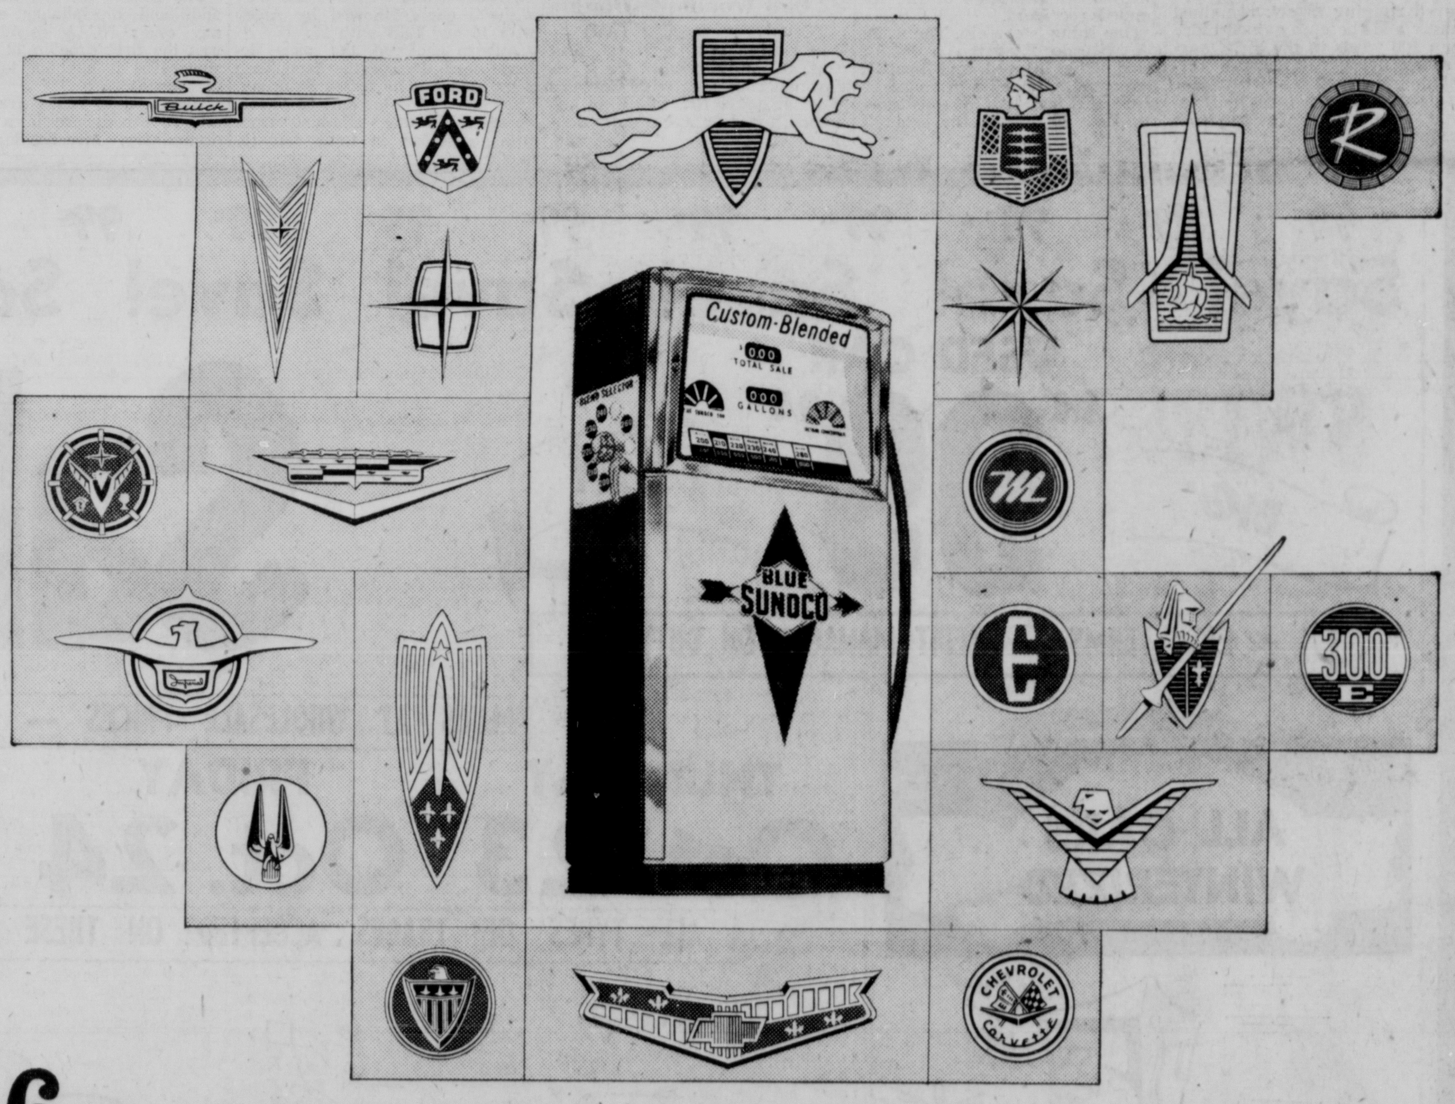

More than 2,000 years ago, the Egyptians and other early people used written tables or carved tablets to keep track of their religious and other festivals. They also noted the movements of the planets which affected or controlled these holidays. An Egyptian "almanac" preserved in the British Museum dates back to the time of Rameses the Great, who lived more than 1,200 years before Christ.

Kills Wife, Self

SPERRY, Okla. (AP)—A farmer shot and killed his wife, critically wounded his small daughter, and took his own life just outside the Sperry Football Field Wednesday night. The woman and her three children were watching a high school game from a station wagon.

The dead: Mrs. Imogene Tracy, 32, and her estranged husband, William Anthony Tracy Jr., 35, who only recently had undergone a mental hearing. In a critical condition at Hillcrest Medical Center in Tulsa is the couple's daughter, Lynn Tracy, 3, with a bullet wound in her lung.

Devoted Worker

BISBEE, Ariz. (AP) — Mike Burgos likes his job as a pressman at the Bisbee Daily Review. He was stricken with appendicitis and emergency surgery was ordered. He refused to go into the operating room until doctors had telephoned the paper and promised Mike he could have a few days off. After the operation, the 18-year-old pressman tried to crawl out of bed, explaining, "I gotta get dressed and get back to work."

HAPPY TRIO — Jimmie Jarnigan Jr., 21, of Jetmore, Kan., hugs son, Jamie, two, and wife, Charlene, in Kansas City after he was chosen Star Farmer of America.

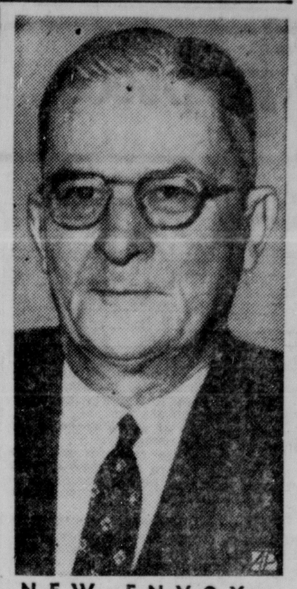

Garroway Taken Ill

NEW YORK (AP) — Television emcee Dave Garroway was felled just before the start of his NBC "Today" show early today by what associates described as fatigue from overwork.

Garroway slumped in the studio as preparations were being made for going on the air about 6:45 a.m. He told aides he didn't feel well and was taken for a medical checkup.

NBC reported later that the checkup showed nothing wrong except fatigue. Garroway was expected to remain away from his many duties for several days of rest.

"He's been doing a lot of extra things lately, running here and running there," an NBC spokesman said. "He's just played out, that's all.

NEW ENVOY — James Lampton Berry, 50, of Columbia, Miss., is the new U. S. Ambassador to Ceylon. Berry, a career diplomat, succeeds Maxwell H. Gluck.

Repairing German Street

The public works department has started to repair a section of German Street, Mayor Edwin F. Radel said today. Even though the major street-repair program has been finished, he noted, it was decided that the condition of the street between Ridge and and Abeel Streets, warranted repair at this time.

Perfumed Subways

Paris subways filter long jets of perfume into their ventilating systems. Carnation is most popular with the underground traveling public, but attar of roses, jasmine and lilac also are used.

Complete Move

SCANDIA, Alta. (AP) — A small church complete with contents has been transported 150 miles to this southeast Alberta community from Surprise, Sask. It was moved after the Saskatchewan congregation was disbanded.

Matter of FACT

In olden days the common black pepper, native to India, Siam, Indonesia and the Philippines, was a rare and priceless luxury. The Greeks valued it for its medicinal qualities. The Goths of the early 5th century prized it so highly that they extracted large amounts of pepper as tribute from conquered enemies.

Fire Stalls Big Renovation Job Of Appeals Court

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — A three-million dollar renovation of the state Court of Appeals building was stalled today in the wake of a fire that caused extensive damage.

State officials launched an inspection to determine the effect of the fire Wednesday night on the rejuvenation plans.

The 116-year-old building is the oldest in active state service.

Most of the fire damage was in the upper levels of the three-story structure. There were spot fires throughout the building however, and extensive water damage. No one was injured.

The ornate, first-floor courtroom, where the seven judges sat, was not involved in the renovation and was sealed during the work. That room was not damaged.

There were building materials throughout the structure. Extensive scaffolding had been erected inside and outside.

State and Albany police joined fire officials in investigating the fire.

The third floor was most severely damaged. It housed chambers of two judges and the court reporters' office.

Balloon Satellite Fails, Signals Last Six Minutes

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —America's first balloon satellite apparently was lost in the vastness of space today, and no one knew just why.

The Army launched a Jupiter-C rocket Wednesday night containing the collapsed 12-foot-diameter sphere, and tracked it by radio for about six minutes.

Then the signals went dead.

Early today, military and civilian scientists in charge acknowledged that "it is practically certain the experiment was not successful and an orbit was not achieved."

"Radio records received from the satellite instrument package show the performance of the rocket was not normal," they said.

It was a disheartening end to an ambitious project for hurling into an 18,000-m.p.h. orbit round the earth an object which would be visible to the unaided human eye at distances up to 1,500 miles.

By tracking it from observation points in many lands, scientists had hoped to learn much about the mysteries of that remote area where the earth's atmosphere ends and interplanetary space begins.

And they had hoped to gain experience to help with an even more spectacular undertaking: a 100-foot balloon satellite off which radio, television and radar signals could be bounced.

It looked like a perfect shot Wednesday night. The launching rocket, 69 feet tall, thundered aloft from this missile test center at 10:21 p.m.

It climbed straight upward, a firebrand in the sky, for 75 seconds, then angled over to the southeast exactly as had been planned.

For another minute it was a bright moving star against a backdrop of moonlight and starry sky and then it winked out about 2½ minutes after blastoff—again apparently exactly according to schedule.

The first stage of the Jupiter-C was a modified Redstone rocket. After burnout some 60 miles above the earth the spent Redstone was to have coasted upward with the three upper stages—and the satellite payload in the nose—for four minutes, to an altitude of 200 miles, and then was to have fallen away as the upper-stage firings began.

An hour after the launching, newsmen at the site were told that "signals from the rocket were lost approximately 10 seconds before the second stage was scheduled to fire. Therefore it is unknown at the present time whether or not an orbit will be achieved."

More than an hour after this pronouncement came the conclusion that the rocket had not performed normally and that it was most unlikely an orbit had been achieved.

Democrats Will Hold Rally in Port Ewen Hall

A political rally will be held at the Town of Esopus Auditorium, Port Ewen, at 8 p. m. Saturday, sponsored by the Town of Esopus Democratic Club.

Arthur Withall of Rifton, president of the club, said that Democratic candidates for county and state offices would speak.

Prior to the meeting an automobile caravan will tour the township. Ladies of the club will serve refreshments.

Compulsory Talks Out

LONDON (AP) — The British government is abolishing compulsory arbitration for labor disputes.

Labor Minister Iain McLeod announced Wednesday night the seven-year-old act setting up industrial tribunals with legally binding powers will be brought to an end in six months.

Employers have complained that compulsory arbitration, though easily enforced against a company, could not easily be applied against workers.
